

Dry Spell Is Hurting Crops

War Food Crops Suffer From Lack Of Rain Since First Of July

SOME SECTIONS HAVE HAD RAIN

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Production of war food crops hard-hit by "very bad" weather in southeastern United States and parts of the midwest, was further jeopardized today by indications the drought is extending to several northern states.

At the same time, however, "dust-bowl" farmers of the far west are staging a comeback after a decade of droughts and dust storms. Rains frequent and heavy—have brought new life to the west, including the wheat fields of Kansas and Oklahoma where the crop exceeds storage and transportation facilities.

Rain Is Needed

U. S. weather bureau reports show that as of July 1, the area most seriously in need of rain stretched from the Gulf of Mexico northward to northern Virginia, southwestern Ohio and central portions of Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

J. B. Kincaid, chief of the bureau's climate and crops division disclosed that as of July 10, lack of moisture had grown more serious in Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky.

Indiana and Ohio farmers received only six per cent of their normal rainfall up to July 10, followed by Michigan with 16, Illinois with 25 and Kentucky.

Dry Spell Bad

"This dry spell is a very bad one as affecting crops," Kincaid declared. "So far, it has been worse in the eastern half of the country with the most acute situation in the Potomac Valley region."

The 1944 corn crop is in good shape throughout the corn belt with the exception of drought conditions in the Ohio Valley where the yield is threatened. It was estimated the corn yield will hit nearly three billion bushels—600 million bushels above the 10-year average.

In most of the south, the drought has damaged gardens, hurt pastures and late hay crops and is reducing local production of food and feed, the department said.

There are 2,766 languages spoken in the world, according to the computation of officers of the French Academy.

again give the nod to Vice-President Henry A. Wallace as a secret still held by the president, but there were strong indications that Wallace will be his choice—a selection, however, which would not be insisted upon if the convention overwhelmingly demanded that another candidate be named.

President Roosevelt, after telling his news conference Tuesday morning that he will accept the Democratic nomination and will serve if elected, held a two-hour luncheon conference with Vice-President Wallace.

Should Wallace be cast overboard, the second place on the Democratic ticket is expected to go to either Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, the senate majority leader who will nominate Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term; Sen. Harry S. Truman, of Missouri; War Mobilizer James P. Byrnes, or Gov. Robert S. Kerr, of Oklahoma, who will deliver the keynote address at the Democratic convention.

Aside from the vice-presidential issue, Mr. Roosevelt, in a few terse, well-chosen sentences made it amply clear in his fourth term announcement just what sort of campaign he will conduct and what the platform will be.

It is likely that he will go abroad again in the late summer for another war conference with Prime Minister Winston Churchill—this time to England, with probably a trip to the American troops on the Normandy beachhead.

Berlin would be equivalent to being in New York City. The Yanks on the Eastern front would be about the distance of Chicago, from New Castle and the Fifth and Eighth Armies in Italy would be about the distance and direction from Berlin, as Goldsboro, N. C., is from New Castle.

Corn from her victory garden served last night for dinner is the record of Mrs. James Allen, of Euclid avenue. "This is the first summer we have had corn ready so early," she reports. The variety is Banquo, a hybrid variety especially suitable for victory gardens, as it is not as tall as some and bears two or three ears to a stalk.

The first American play titled "The Contrast" was produced in 1787.

mans now deeply outflanked in the Pripiet Marshes has been reduced to 25 miles.

Thousands of Germans are threatening their way westward through a maze of dirt roads, many of which are impassable because of lack of repairs owing to guerrilla interference.

The government newspaper Izvestia declared that "the fate of the entire region has been decided," adding that "the salient in the marshes has been converted into a trap for the Germans."

Less Than 30 Miles From Prussia

Soviet columns, advancing at the rate of better than 15 miles a day were reported less than 80 miles from East Prussia at some points.

Destruction of trapped German forces east of the White Russian capital of Minsk has been completed, the Russian communiqué revealed, with the capture of 2,000 Nazis including another German general. Soviet spearheads are believed to be within 40 miles of Kaunas.

Gen. Ivan D. Chernyakhovsky's third White Russian army was credited by the Soviet high command with continuing the destruction of "scattered enemy groups" in the center of Wilno. To the south, Gen. Georgi Zakharov's second White Russian army completed the liquidation of pocketed Nazi forces east of Minsk.

Included in the last batch of 2,000 Nazis who surrendered east of the liberated White Russian capital was infantry Gen. Voelkers, commander of the 27th German army corps who gave up with his entire headquarters staff.

Voelkers was the eighth Nazi general taken by the Russians in this sector since July 4.

In the seven-day period between July 4 and July 11, the communiqué disclosed, more than 28,000 Nazis were killed and 27,132 captured east of Minsk, but the figures are incomplete and the final tally is expected to be much higher. Huge quantities of supplies and equipment also were taken by the victorious Russian forces.

LONDON, July 12.—(INS)—The Russians, according to a wireless dispatch, have launched heavy attacks on a broad front in the Utena area of Lithuania with the aim of breaking through to the rail junction of Dvinsk.

COUNTER-ATTACKS AGAINST YANKS ARE REPULSED

ish northeast of captured Caen in the vicinity of Colombelles-St. Honoré.

Counter-Attacks At Caen

Throughout the Caen area the Nazis, employing strong tank and infantry reserve forces, hurled counter-thrusts at British and Canadian units in the hope of halting an Allied crossing of the Orne river.

A headquarters spokesman said there was very heavy fighting in the Colombelles area. The British were believed to have gained some ground in that sector but there was no positive information of places captured.

There was no positive information either on whether the Nazis had destroyed the remaining Orne river bridge in this area.

Southwest of Caen the British repulsed strong German counter-attacks and still clung to strategic hill 112 which had changed hands several times in the bitterest kind of fighting.

NEUTRAL CAPITALS HEAR REPORTS OF HITLER DIFFICULTIES

had been transferred from Russia to the western front. The only trouble with this report is that so far as can be determined Hitler bolted out of Russia many months ago and since that time presumably has been nursing grievances against the civilized world at his personal fortress overlooking Berncastel.

May Quilt Italy

In addition the Swiss city of Zurich, which is usually a fairly reliable listening post, heard that German general headquarters have been established in Bavaria and that everything indicated that a mass withdrawal of Nazi forces from Italy.

This would be in line with reported last-ditch German plans for a retirement within the "inner circle" of Nazi defenses and might be the forerunner of capitulation.

If one thing is definite in this war it is that Hitler could not hope to survive if ground hostilities carried to the soil of the Reich itself. He has always nurtured the German people on the belief that their wars would always be fought on somebody else's territory. Even the arrival of Russian troops at the frontier of East Prussia might be sufficient to shatter the Nazi party's hold on the nation and the army.

Indications mounted that the German general staff was trying while there is still time to find a means of quitting the war with an army of some 4,800,000 men still intact and the borders of the Reich uninvaded. The armies in the field fought with a savagery that belied the possibility of an early end to the conflict.

tor was little changed, with the Polish beating off a series of local counter-attacks near Poggibonsi.

Troops of the British Eighth Army made limited gains in the upper Tiber valley. The line remains unchanged in the Arezzo sector.

In the Adriatic region a slight German withdrawal was noted. North of the Misenio river the Germans were cleared from three villages and the enemy in the Ancona area was being shelled.

Italian Troops Gain

Italian troops fighting with the Allies took some ground in the vicinity of the Misenio river.

Headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson revealed that since the beginning of their recent advance Polish forces have captured 1,700 prisoners, killed 1,300 German troops and wounded an additional 3,900.

More than 800 soldiers were flown yesterday to Mediterranean air force planes. McDinner bombers struck rail bridges in northern Italy and rail yards at Alessandria.

Fighter-bombers attacked rail lines and rolling stock between Parma and Bologna, an airfield north of the naval base of La Spezia and road and rail positions in the Arezzo sector.

Headquarters said that the heavy bombers which raided the Nazi-held French naval base of Toulon scored eight hits on submarine drydocks and also hammered rail yards and passenger stations in the immediate vicinity.

Offensive sweeps also were made against objectives in Yugoslavia and Albania.

Four Allied planes were lost in the operations.

Paralysis Cases Reported At 35

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(INS)—Two additional cases of infantile paralysis—making 26 cases in Pittsburgh and nine in Allegheny County—outside the city—today were reported to the health department.

The latest stricken by the disease are two boys, one aged 13, the other seven.

G. B. Tiffany, representing the National Foundation for infantile paralysis for Pennsylvania and West Virginia, conferred today with Dr. Hope Alexander, director of the city department of health.

He said the Foundation would supply the city with as many "iron lungs" as needed to care for those stricken.

Tiffany told Dr. Alexander the "lungs" were in Philadelphia and could be brought here by plane if an emergency arises.

EDITORIAL FOURTH TERM COMMENT

on earth now should be ready to try for 16 seems similarly and starting incongruous. he has consented to serve, no doubt because he believes the country needs him but certainly because he knew the party needed him.

Detroit Free Press—Flash! Roosevelt has announced he will accept the nomination. What a big story it would have been if he had said he wouldn't!

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette—In saying that he does not want to run "from the personal point of view," Mr. Roosevelt does not explain why he has managed his party and conducted his administration in such a way that he has made it politically impossible for him to step aside.

The Chicago Sun—Franklin Delano Roosevelt has responded to the call of high and unyielding duty. He has dealt candidly with the party and with the American people by announcing that he will accept nomination, and if elected, will act as the people's servant in the White House for four more years.

The Chicago Daily Tribune—Mr. Roosevelt's determination to degrade congress into a mere registry of his will and to reduce the courts to impotence provides another index to the consequences of reelection. His will to rule as a dictator remains what it always was.

Chicago Daily Times—The president, obviously, feels that his job is not finished, aside from commander-in-chief duties. What has to be done was expressed by him in the three objectives. . . 1. To win the war, "wholeheartedly" and "quickly." 2. To prevent further world wars in the foreseeable future. 3. To provide "occupations" and a decent standard of living after the war for our service men and "for all Americans."

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution—Mr. Roosevelt said publicly what he often has told his intimate friends. He said that he did not want the office and did not desire to continue with the tremendous, manifold responsibilities. He will run if the party asks him to do so. The party will ask him to run. It now remains to be seen what the convention will do about the vice presidency.

Columbus, O., Dispatch—The American people have just witnessed a pitiable—although not surprising—development in the history of one of the great political parties of their nation, the spectacle of a man who cannot admit that in this nation of more than 130 million people there is in his opinion none other than himself fit to be president.

Columbus, O., Citizens—We hope Mr. Roosevelt, soon, recovers his sense of humor and balance which was his greatest charm and his safety valve. Since he thinks he is the indispensable man and since he has left his party with no other choice he has made his candidacy inevitable. But he will be a partisan candidate, regardless of his denial.

Boston Globe—Today, with two gigantic wars advancing toward climax, one in Asia and the other in Europe, the president evidently feels that he is even less at liberty to "avoid public responsibilities" and yield to his quite understandable preference for a return to private life. So the decision is to be left to the voters at the poles next November.

Fire will revive lace-making after the war to supply American demands.

Funeral Costs Should Not Create Hardship

Funeral costs never should create hardship for the living. That is why we urge that people come and obtain information about funeral service and its cost before need compels hasty action.

Accepting this common sense view has lightened the burden for many families in their time of bereavement. People who call to consult us incur no obligation to employ our service.

FAMILY RETURNS FROM GRADUATION

Mr. and Mrs. Ross P. Abbott and daughter, Mrs. James E. Thomas, West Washington street extension, have returned from Philadelphia where they attended commencement exercises of Pennsylvania State College of Optometry.

At the exercises their son and brother, Wilbur Dale Abbott, received the degree of doctor of optometry. He is also a graduate of the Union high school here.

Accompanied by Dr. Abbott, the family spent several days in New York City before returning home.

Dr. Abbott remained in the east and will come here about August 1.

A. U. R. FAMILIES PICNIC AT PARK

Members of the A. U. R. Missionary society of Central Presbyterian church with their families as guests attended a picnic at Cascade Park on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. There were 45 present.

The picnic, an annual summer event for the society, concluded its activities until fall.

Dinner was served by the committee in charge, Mrs. Clayton Hofmeister, Mrs. Julian Miller, Mrs. Louis Rudesill, and Mrs. A. T. Sadler.

Mrs. R. A. Pollock, of Plaingrove, was a guest.

TAU DELTA CLASS HAS OUTING AT CHURCH

The grounds of Epworth Methodist church were the mecca for Tau Delta class members Tuesday evening, who gathered for a wiener roast as one of their special summer occasions. Group singing and other avenues of diversion filled in the leisure time that followed.

August 1 members will join for a picnic dinner at the same place.

AMITY CLUB PARTY CONCLUDES SEASON

Amity club members, shared a most enjoyable party on Tuesday evening, when they were entertained as guests in the home of Mrs. William Mooney, Walmo. The occasion was in the form of a supper event, which too marked the closing session of the season.

At tables prettily appointed and arranged about the patio, a delicious full course dinner was served. Games of all types claimed attention afterwards, which tapered off with a hike. Upon returning, the assemblage retired to the recreation room of the Mooney residence where additional entertainment was featured. The serving of a refreshing midnight snack completed the informal program.

Prizes were won by Misses Ann Burgo, Gisella Morganti and Ida Casacchia.

During the evening, however, Miss Ann Burgo was presented with a birthday gift from the club and another remembrance from her secret pal.

Regular meetings of the club will be discontinued until September.

PANTHERETTE CLUB PLANS HAMBURG FRY

Pantherette club met Tuesday evening in the South Mill street club rooms, Mrs. Ruben Pratt in charge, and plans were made for a hamburger fry, in the picnic grove at Cascade Park, Tuesday, July 25, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Nick Ambrose is the chairman, and her aides are Mrs. Columbo Clause and Mrs. William Cubella.

Card playing was the pastime, prizes going to Mrs. Louis Gaspare and the birthday of Mrs. Andy Marape was honored, a gift being received from her big sister.

Serving a dainty lunch were: Mrs. Anthony Cluff, Mrs. Andy Marape and Mrs. Anthony J. Capozzo.

August 8, is the meeting in the club, Mrs. Ruben Pratt and Mrs. Anthony Fuleo being hostesses.

PROF. O. J. SHEAFFER HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Prof. Oscar J. Sheaffer was honored upon his arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ed. Brown, known as the "Don-Rose", located on the Wilmington road, Tuesday evening, when he was greeted by a host of friends who gathered to help celebrate his birthday anniversary.

A full-course chicken dinner was served as the opening feature, and the time that ensued was spent leisurely in a social manner.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sreen of Youngstown, O., former local residents.

Further commemorating the day, the guest of honor was presented with a number of personal gifts.

DANIEL LEASURE AUXILIARY MEETS

Daniel Leasure Auxiliary No. 52 held their regular business session in the American Legion Home on Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. Bessie Nessel, presiding. Informal reports of the department convention held at Gettysburg in June were contributed by representatives.

Plans were rounded out for a picnic dinner served at 5:30 p. m. with husbands as guests to be held on July 24 at Cascade park.

SALINA REDA ENGAGEMENT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. William Salina of Pittsburgh, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Velma Joyce Salina, to Geno Reda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Reda, 908 South Mill street.

The engagement will terminate in a wedding August 5 in a Catholic church in Pittsburgh.

ATTENTION! ALL HOME CANNERS!

If we all pitch in, 1944 will see the greatest food production in our history.

But that will require your help.

It's up to you: 1. grow every ounce of food you possibly can; 2. use all the food you grow; 3. can your food by the proper and safe methods.

Every ounce of home-canned food is urgently needed. Your Government begs you not only to match what you did last year but, if possible, to better your 1943 record.

Put up fruits and tomatoes by the boiling water bath method—a safe and satisfactory method for these foods.

But before you begin your 1944 canning of all other vegetables, Good Housekeeping wants to tell you how to avoid a danger that may occur in home-canned food—a danger recognized by many authorities, including the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

That danger is botulinus food poisoning!

Botulinus poisoning comes from bacteria that live in the soil and cling to vegetables. It is rare—but it isn't confined to just a few parts of the country, as some people think.

Botulinus germs may be on the food you can. They must be destroyed. Whenever these bacteria are present in the food and are not destroyed during the canning process, they gradually produce a toxin which is poisonous.

It takes hotter-than-boiling heat to kill botulinus germs. Neither hot-water bath nor open-kettle canning provides enough heat to destroy them. That is why we advise: the only safe way to can low-acid vegetables—which means all vegetables except tomatoes—is by the correct use of a pressure cooker!

If you don't already own a pressure cooker, you'll be glad to know that the Government is allowing the manufacture of 400,000 new cookers for sale this summer, without priorities.

If you can't buy a pressure cooker, borrow your neighbor's... or perhaps you'll find one available through a community canning group. If not, form your own community group, and buy one. To be safe, don't can low-acid vegetables any other way.

We take this opportunity to issue two further warnings: 1. Oven canning is dangerous. It has caused many serious accidents to persons and to property. Shun it! 2. All home-canned foods should be examined carefully when opened. If there is evidence of spoilage, the food should not be used. NEVER TASTE to discover spoilage.*

By all means, put up every ounce of surplus food you possibly can. Our armed forces and the hungry nations of the earth need the benefits of our abundance.

Dewey Has Edge

DETROIT, Michigan, July 12—All most everyone I've talked with during my brief stay here believes that Governor Dewey will carry Michigan, his birth state, in November.

Even some of those who are working hardest through the CIO political action committee to prevent this from happening concede that, as of today, Dewey has the edge over President Roosevelt in this state.

Wayne county, with the big industrial area of Detroit and environs will go Democratic but the strong probability is that the middle-class and farm vote in the rest of the state will overcome the industrial vote.

The CIO, from top to bottom, is out to register the thousands of new voters who have come here for war jobs. The zeal of the local unit of the political action committee, under the direction of Gustave Scholle, sometimes leads to disputes with the slightly Moribund Democratic organization.

Sometimes, too, it leads to differences with management in the big war production. Not long ago, Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the United Automobile Workers, asked permission to set up voting registration booths in General Motors plants. Harry W. Anderson, vice president of GM in charge of labor relations, said no.

Can't Tell Man How To Vote
Further argued that neither the company nor the union could tell a man how to vote; that it was merely aiding the process of Democracy to make it easier for a citizen to get his name on the registration books. But Anderson, insisting it would interfere with production, repeated his no. Union members of voting age are now being registered in union halls, schools and even churches.

Talking with union leaders here you get an idea of why they feel it is so important to re-elect President Roosevelt. They see management stiffening against union organization in the belief that an inevitable swing toward Republicanism is on the way. They seem convinced that neither Dewey or any other Republican president could resist the powerful demands of big industry to weaken the Wagner act and other safeguards to labor organization written into the law under the New Deal.

Their hope is that, with another four years, industrial unionism will be finally accepted beyond any hope of overthrow. Moreover, they profess to believe that Roosevelt, in what would be his final term, could tighten up New Deal reforms.

Stakes Are Big
The stakes are big. The UAW claims a dues-paying membership in Michigan of between 550,000 and 600,000, with 400,000 in the metropolitan area of Detroit.

In the face of the attitude of some of his most ardent followers, Dewey will find it hard to get even a small share of the labor vote. Asked how A. F. of L. members would be likely to vote in the fall William Green, president of the A. F. of L., made a private prediction during the course of the Republican convention in Chicago that 80 to 85 percent would go for Roosevelt and that nothing could prevent it.

An important political factor in Detroit is the negro vote. Calm of a kind has prevailed since the riot of a year ago and there have been real efforts to ease the tensions arising out of the whole complex war situation in this jam-packed beehive. Courses in racial tolerance have been introduced into the schools. Other cities could learn from Detroit in this respect.

Housing remains the critical need. A large proportion of Detroit's more than 225,000 negroes are crowded into Paradise Valley. One Federal housing project in the Valley stands out like an oasis in an area where three and four families live in a single flat. That housing project is a political fact which weighs more than words.

Michigan has 19 electoral votes. Wendell Willkie captured them in 1940, but by a margin of less than 7,000 votes. In a close election, those 19 electoral votes might be all important, which is why labor is working so hard to overcome the lead that Dewey has today.

SHAVING
Some women have a lot of trouble with hair growing where they do not want it to grow.

It grows on the face and they want to get rid of it. They are afraid to do anything to it for fear that it will grow thicker or stiffer or heavier or blacker. Sometimes they rub it off with a stone. This is pretty strenuous and hard on the skin.

Sometimes they use chemicals which soften the hair so that it may be rubbed off. Often this method makes the skin sore.

Treatment with the electric needle is used, but it is expensive and not always satisfactory.

Shaving is the old fashioned way which has stood the test of time. It cuts the hair off nice and clean and does not hurt the skin.

It perhaps has no effect whatever on the growth of the hair. It does not make it darker or thicker.

The World and the Mud Puddles

BUSINESS NOT POLITICS

Every intelligent person realizes that a first essential in maintaining employment and general prosperity after the war is a lessening of the tax load on industry, business and the individual. Jobs must be provided for the millions of defense workers and millions of demobilized soldiers. Only private industry, with a nation prosperous enough to use the products of industry, can provide the jobs. Industry can function under reasonable taxation, but it cannot even survive under excessive taxation.

But many analysts of national finances take the pessimistic view that any substantial decrease in the tax load will be impossible for years to come. They note that we will have a national debt of approximately three hundred billion dollars. The interest and amortization charges on this huge debt, they say, will call for a sum in the neighborhood of ten billion dollars a year. Maintenance of a large military and naval establishment, regarded as imperative for our security and world peace, may cost us another five billions annually. Unless there are drastic reductions in outlay, the demands of present and future government may absorb as much as another five billions. Thus they conclude, our post-war budget for some time at least may reach twenty billions a year.

To raise this immense sum in taxes at even high rates the country would require an annual income approaching one hundred fifty billion dollars. While it is hoped—and expected by many economists—that we shall go far beyond our former peace-time peak of ninety billions there is no assurance that during the interim of conversion from war to peace production will reach the one hundred fifty billion goal.

There are other considerations more hopeful, however, that appear. A capable, energetic administration would whittle many billions from the national budget. It could begin by cutting some three million jobholders from the federal payroll, leaving still approximately a half million to carry on the necessary business of the government. It could eliminate the vast expenditures entailed in operating superfluous and hampering Bureaus, commissions and authorities. It could dispense with the billions appropriated for subsidies to various groups and to supporting prices for a variety of commodities. It could save many millions by discarding the mammoth propaganda agencies which clutter the mails with political hog-wash—and thus add to the financial losses of the post office department. It could place necessary domestic relief plans on a basis of business instead of politics and administer aid to war-stricken nations on a plan of common sense. It could end our unappreciated and wasted subsidies to South and Central American nations. It could make at least an honest effort to obtain repayment from our victorious allies on lend-lease. It could salvage vast sums from the sale of surplus war supplies on a business instead of a political basis and administer aid to war-stricken nations on a plan of common sense.

All these factors, of course, presuppose the ousting of the New Deal with its myriad paternalistic and collectivist devices and its fantastic financial philosophy. They presuppose through wild expenditure and deficit financing.

The taxation picture after the war is not as encouraging as it might be, but it can be vastly improved by the substitution of sound government for New Dealism.

Washington Report

Dewey Sticks To Desk Despite Campaign
New York Governor Waits On Democrats
Schism Widens Between South, New Deal

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, July 12—Although Gov. Thomas E. Dewey made a fighting speech in accepting the presidential nomination at Chicago, veteran political observers in Washington expect the national campaigns for the presidency to get off to a late start.

There are several reasons for this. Dewey has announced that he will not resign the governorship of New York. He is expected to stay in Albany for awhile to put things in order before going on a speaking tour.

Moreover, Dewey has no intention of beating the political drums until the Democrats have had their convention and the results of that convention have had a chance to sink in on the public consciousness.

Then, Dewey's advisers believe, his best chance for victory lies in a quiet campaign, one in which he will not have to express positive and specific views on burning issues, thereby alienating potential voters.

Dewey strategy, according to present indications, will be to attack the New Deal administration in broad and general terms.

All indications are that President Roosevelt—and his renomination is taken for granted by politicians—will forgo an active campaign. So the campaigns of both aspirants may be largely of the "front porch" character.

Among 1944 political developments, the one that probably has been underplayed is the split between the New Deal Democrats and the old-line southern Democrats.

Two sectional Democratic factions have grown up in the Senate and the bitterness that exists between them is intense. More will be heard about them.

Leader of the old-line southern Democrats is Senator Harry P. Byrd of Virginia and their chief Democratic opponent, and the target of much of their criticism, is Senator Joseph P. Guffey of Pennsylvania.

Byrd has already promised Guffey that Senator Josiah W. Bailey (D., of North Carolina), will nail his "rhinoceros" hide to the wall for a speech in which Guffey attacked Bailey while the latter was recovering from an operation.

Further evidence of the Democratic schism is the revolt of southern Democratic electors who are threatening to vote against President Roosevelt for a fourth term, regardless of the popular vote in their states.

Usually, Democrats park their differences during an election year. But differences have arisen in 1944 too deep to be patched up.

As the time for the Democratic convention approaches, more and more is being said about the opposition of Democratic political leaders to the renomination of Henry A. Wallace for the vice presidency.

Over the past high in the councils of the party has said flatly in recent weeks that Wallace would be a liability as the president's running mate this year.

The names of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, majority leader of the Senate, and Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri have been suggested. The comment has been made that none of these men would be a liability.

Whether Wallace is renominated, however, depends on one man—the president.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDIS

You probably read that story about the medical officer who made a speech to the American troops on Saipan out in the Marianas.

He told them that in the surf they must beware of sharks, barracudas, sea snakes, poisonous fish and giant clams capable of snapping on a man like a bear trap.

Ashore, he told them, they must look out for leprosy, typhus, filarial, dengue fever, dysentery, polio, insects, snakes and giant lizards.

The men listened intently and at the end of the lecture a young private raised his hand.

"Sir," he said, "if it's so bad, why don't we let the Japs have the island?"

Of course, not being a strategist, but just a GI-Joe, the little private didn't know much about the military importance of Saipan.

He knew only that he had to fight for something which, in the expert opinion of a superior officer, was a dangerous man-trap.

All through life we have to do things that are odious and seem of no value to us, but which, in the long run, and in their larger aspects, are necessary and important.

Girl Scouts In Camp At ParkSeventy Girls Begin Day
Camp Summer Program
At CascadeAdding a little variety to the routine of the bus drivers who take them to and from Cascade park, over seventy Girl Scouts and Brownies have taken over the park for their day camp activities this week.Meeting in the mornings at 9 o'clock, the girls are then scattered with their different units to work out their own plans for the day.
"Troop houses," or little picnic pavillions all over the park are draped with clothes lines full of wet bathing suits and towels.

Some Are Cooking

One group of older girls was busy solving the problem of out-door cooking with "buddy burners," made of a big tin can and a little tin can. Another group had disappeared altogether off through the hills on a nature hike.Warm and dusty, many of the girls were stretched out on blankets for a few minutes of rest before the closing ceremony. A not-too-large bell, which can be heard all over the park, is used to call the girls together for group singing in a shady corner, and then the horseshoe is formed for treat.

Color Guard

A different group of five is on duty as color guard every day, wearing red sashes over their shorts and play suits. The group is drilled beforehand, so that the flag is folded correctly.Activities for the day include swimming in the morning, supervised by Miss Eileen Wadlinger and Miss Joyce Alexander, singing, led by Miss Elise Ridley, and unit work such as wood-carving, hikes, and cooking under the unit leaders.Naming their groups appropriately, the girls also nickname their leaders for the sake of informality.
Lady Bird, Robin, Looie, Chippy and Gold Fish are a few examples.With Mrs. Marjorie Miller, scout executive, as director, the staff of the camp includes Mrs. C. M. Booner, Mrs. David Lewis, Miss Lois Bulph, Miss Mildred Lusk, Miss Angelica Castagna, Miss Shirley West, Miss Sara McKee, Miss Helen Mc-
Common, Miss Jennie Wise, Miss Leona Sankey, Miss Marjorie Leestetter, Miss Helen Williams, Mrs.
J. A. Hewitt, Miss Ridley, Miss Wadlinger, and Miss Alexander.Opening last Monday morning the camp will last until August 6.No Further Word

Lombardo Killed In France
Invasion Battle, June 8No further word has been received concerning the death of Pfc. Charles J. Lombardo, 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Domenick Lombardo of 1018 Summit street, killed in action
June 8 during the invasion battle in France.The family is waiting further details from the war department. Pfc. Lombardo was a veteran of two campaigns, the North African and Sicily. During the battle of Tunisia, he was awarded the Silver Star medal.Chas. Lombardo Silver Star medal for gallantry in action and also received a citation. The citation reads as follows: "For gallantry in action, in the vicinity of El Guettar, Tunisia, March 3, 1943. When his company's ammunition became seriously depleted during an enemy attack, Pfc. Lombardo voluntarily crossed open terrain subjected to intense enemy fire and replenished the supply."By command of Major General Alvin L. K. Gault, Lt. Col.
A. G. D. Adjutant General.The Silver Star medal, his achievements for meritorious service, have been sent home for safekeeping with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Domenick Lombardo.Pfc. Lombardo, a member of the 18th infantry, first division, had been in service for two and a half years, receiving his basic training at Camp Wheeler, Ga., Ft. Benning, Ga., and later at Indiantown Gap, Pa.After six months he was sent overseas where he had served for two years in two major campaigns. The division later received a rest period in England, where he met his brother, Pfc. Frank Lombardo, of the ordnance division. The two held a joyous reunion, since Pfc. Charles Lombardo had never received a further back home, and the two brothers had not seen each other for nearly two and a half years. A snapshot of the glad reunion has been sent home to his parents.Another brother also in the service is Tech Sgt. Anthony Lombar-do, of the ordnance, 13th armored division, Camp Bowie, Tex., now home on furlough.Prior to his entering the armed forces he was a worker at the in-mill.With his death, another name is added to the gold star honor roll of this city, paying tribute to the young men who have given their life for their country.

Aged Miner Is

Fatally Hurt

ELLWOOD CITY, July 12—Jacob Swift Hoffman, aged 79 years, of North Sewickley township, died in the Ellwood City hospital yesterday as the result of injuries received at 11:30 a. m. Monday when he fell from a coal tippie at the Blank Coal Tippie. He was working with Amos Wiley of R. D. 2 Ellwood City and was hauling cars to the top of the tippie, when a railing against which he was leaning gave way, precipitating him heavily to the ground below, a distance of about 13 feet. He suffered a fracture of the left arm and pelvis and also sustained internal injuries.

Eligible To VoteHARRISBURG, July 12—(INS)—
The State Defense Council's military ballot information drive was completed today with a total compilation of 548,882 names of service men and women eligible to vote in the November 7 general election.Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, executive director of the council, commended the 200,000 volunteers, who launched house-to-house canvasses four weeks ago to obtain military addresses, for "a splendid piece of work."He termed the campaign "the greatest undertaking of the kind known in Pennsylvania, an outstanding patriotic effort and a success in every county."It will afford the means for every Pennsylvania man and woman in the armed forces eligible to vote to be sent a ballot, he declared,
"no matter in what part of the world they are serving."THE PARENT of their conduct and young citizenship on his return.To this end, let me entreat the mother or relatives who are chiefly responsible for these children to guide and discipline them well. Unfortunately all too many of the youngsters with the father in the service, will not be adequately restrained and brought up with proper regard for the rights of others and respect for constituted authority.All who care for these children need to be more strict rather than less, as a rule. No father should have to return after the war to find one of his children a nuisance in the neighborhood or a problem of behavior at school. He should be able to be delighted with the good moral education his children have had during his absence. All of us who are neighbors need also do our bit to encourage these children in worthy ambition and conduct.WOMAN OVERCOMES

Authorities today were studying new statements taken from 10-year-old Helen Hirsin, victim of a brutal attack and stabbing on a lonely Fox Chapel road July 4, in hopes that some new clue might be found as to the identity of her assailant.Twice the Blawnox child looked at the man from her bed in the hospital, and each time, according to County Detective Chief Joseph M.
Stack said, "That's the man." He has been identified only as a married Westmoreland county man.When Stack started to leave the room, he said, he asked Helen if she suspect arrested in the case as the man who attacked her, but indicated she could not make the identification positive.Three other suspects who faced the girl with the Westmoreland man were released.

U. S. Troops On Saipan Witness Mae West Movie

"The Heat's On" Is Name Of Movie And Very Appropriate For Sons Of Tojo

By CLINTON GREEN

ARMY GARRISON HEADQUARTERS, Saipan, July 10.—(Delayed)—(Via Navy Radio)—The American flag was raised today on Saipan while only a few miles away the Marines went about the tedious but necessary task of blasting out remaining Japanese trying to hide out in the caves of Saipan.

No bands played last night when the Island of Saipan was secured; there was no cheering, no slapping of backs, no display of fireworks—just a general sigh of relief.

But there was something different. For the first time since assault troops secured the beachhead in the vicinity of Charan Kanoa on June 15 (June 14 in the United States) more than 700 troops, including hundreds of the first assault wave, saw a full length movie.

Watch Movie
It was shown in an open air theater, there were no plush seats, there was no ban on smoking, but each man wore a helmet and carried either a rifle or sidearm.

The movie was Mae West's "The Heat's On," and while it hardly filled the qualifications of the Navy's 40, which is top rating, the men were willing to look at any movie.

While the war still continued in the Pacific, the big news today is concerned with the expected arrival of Army nurses, who are going to receive more souvenirs of the battle of Saipan than they will know what to do with.

Over 10,000 Killed
The last day of what was considered the organized Japanese resistance, resulted in the killing of several hundred Japs, definite proof that the last hours were far from being a so-called push over.

Available information, which necessarily is unofficial, sets the figure of Japanese dead and buried up to last night at well over 10,000 including those killed yesterday during the aftermath of the enemy's "banzai" attack.

Concerning the all out Japanese counter attack, there is a possibility that American casualty figures may drop slightly for reports are coming in that men earlier believed missing now are showing up with their units after fighting for hours with strange outfits.

Care For Civilians
The island's civilians have been making their way toward American lines all day long. Many thousands of them already have been quartered, given food, water and rest in our established camps. It is impossible even to guess how long it is going to take to clean up small groups of Japs. They have got to be flushed out of their hiding places. But the big job of fighting is over and the Marines and Army troops are able to rest and reorganize.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Lastoria of South Mill street have moved to 403 South Ray street.

Cadet Nurses Dorothy Gallo of Bessemer and Irene Korpela of this city, are spending their vacation at Ashtabula Harbor, Ashtabula, O.

The Misses Kathryn and Alice Chambers of Erie are visiting their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grove of 321 East Edison avenue.

Mrs. Jennie Gallena, of Hillsville, has left for Meridian, Miss., where she will visit her son, Lt. Joseph Gallena, Mrs. Gallena, and their daughter, Sandra Lynn.

Mrs. J. N. Wagner, of Adams street, and Mrs. Joseph Dambach, of Princeton, have returned to their homes after visiting for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pilguth, of Zelienople.

Mrs. Jean Forrest, of English avenue, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident five months ago has undergone an operation at the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, where she is a patient.

Maxine Paula Slavovskiy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Slavovskiy, of South Mercer street, who underwent a tonsil operation in the New Castle hospital, is getting along nicely at her residence.

WHAT YANKS FACED ON SAIPAN

AMONG THE TOUGH NUTS the Yanks had to crack on Saipan island before the complete conquest of the Mariana island were these concrete structures. At the top is the entrance to an underground store-room that was fitted with two sets of heavy iron doors. At the bottom is a blockhouse on strategic Asito airfield. (International)

AROUND CITY HALL

After a car had been parked five weeks in West Cherry street, a complaint resulted in police ordering removal of the auto.

Harold Dunlap, inspector of plumbing, reported today that he has been kept quite busy inspecting plumbing being installed in the city.

Fire Chief J. E. Thomas reported the new fire truck, a 500 gallon pumper, has been stationed at No. 1 house, South Jefferson street.

Police documents show that a woman autoist paid $5 for parking too near a fire hydrant. She is the first woman tagged for this offense in a year.

New traffic signs are being located in various sections of the city. At some intersections Stop signs have been posted at the four corners.

Neil Williams, attaché city engineer's office, is drawing some new maps for the department, constant usage having damaged some drawn years ago.

Monday will be Kiddies Day at Cascade Park and if the hot spell continues no doubt the bathing pool will contain its largest crowd of kiddies.

Frank Sargent, co-ordinator, city O.C.D. is keeping upon his toes for a possible air raid drill which may be expected at any time, according to reports.

When police begin wearing their new uniforms all officers from sergeant up will wear stripes or bars. There are no police corporals.

Whenever there is a crime in any part of the state news of it is carried to this city via the state police printed in the city police department.

Fire Chief J. E. Thomas today reported that the department could use a new aerial truck and also a new service truck. Such are needed, he advised.

There are a number of temporary police on the department. When police now in service return these men will be retired from the force.

Pa. News's health has been very good according to Dr. W. A. Womer. Very few contagious patients have been found here during the past few months, he said.

Cork Employees Back On Jobs

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(INS)—A three-day absenteeism demonstration by 300 gasket workers in the Armstrong Cork company Pittsburgh plant ended today when the workers notified failure to report for work would be considered equivalent to resignation.

The workers had struck last week for two days in protest against appointment of a new foreman. When conciliators took over the dispute the men returned to work but only in small groups and each day absenteeism was substantial. The war-torn letters restored the plant to normal, company officials said.

Complete Plans For Collection Of Paper Here

Meeting with Collection Chairman Numa F. Vidal and the director of the collection John P. Boyles Tuesday night, the committee for the waste newspaper collection to be held Saturday, July 15, completed its plans for the collection. With the exception of a few minor details the collection plans are set. All that is needed to make it a success is a lot of old newspapers bundled and tied. The papers will be hauled to the Shenango Pottery where they are needed in the production of chinaware and the net proceeds from the collection go to the recreation fund for the Deshon General Hospital Annex.

At the meeting Tuesday night Ralph F. Davis was named chairman of the loading crews. Ed Fee, Walter J. McCormick, John Walters and Carm Sacco were named as truck dispatchers. Chester C. Swenson is in charge of weighing. The plan is to have all trucks furnished for the collection meet at the Conn. Welding shop on South Croton avenue between Mill and South Jefferson street by one o'clock on Saturday.

Volunteer workers will be assigned to the trucks and the trucks given specific areas to cover. Householders in New Castle, are asked to bundle their old newspapers tied and bundled in bundles of not more than 15 pounds, and have their bundles on the curb in front of their homes before noon Saturday.

In addition to the city collection, newspapers will be collected in Shenango, Neshannock, Taylor, and Union townships, all of which abut against the city. No collection will be made in townships other than those mentioned.

Township residents are asked to get their bundles of papers to collection stations by Friday night. State highway trucks will pick up the papers early Saturday morning.

Shenango township collection stations are Grim's store and the East New Castle Fire department. Information can be had by calling either place. For Neshannock township Alfred Mellor is in charge, for Union Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds and for Taylor township, James Vessella of West Pittsburgh.

The mechanics of the collection are well set up, but it takes a lot of paper to make the collection a success. Every family has a lot of old newspapers around the house. Bundle them up and have them hauled to the Shenango Pottery and at the same time aid the recreation fund for the Deshon Annex.

Just another reminder. Only newspapers are wanted in this collection. Do not put out magazines or cardboard.

Pressure Valve Caused Tragedy At Oil Refinery

OIL CITY, Pa., July 12.—(INS)—A formal report by company officials today confirmed the original theory that accidental release of a pressure valve caused the explosion and fire last Friday in a 100-octane gasoline refinery in Oil City, killing eight and causing about a million dollars worth of damage.

The $5,000,000 plant, built by the Defense Plant Corporation and operated by the Pennzoil Company and other refiners, had been in operation less than two months.

Release of the pressure valve, officials reported, allowed super-high-test liquid aviation gasoline to escape in vapor form, and although "there might not have been any great harm done if the gas could have expended itself in the air," the statement added, the cloud of vapor was suddenly ignited nearby.

GOLDEN WEDDING EVENT OBSERVED
Mr. and Mrs. Owen F. Morrissey of 8 North Lee avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday. They were married July 11, 1894, at St. Mary's church in this city.

On Tuesday morning, high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarter. Music was sung by the senior choir of the church accompanied at the organ by Miss Marguerite Uhl.

At one o'clock a family dinner was served at the residence. Rev. Fr. McCarter and Rev. Fr. Francis P. King were special guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey held open house during the afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 and in the evening between the hours of 7 and 10. More than 100 friends, relatives, and neighbors called to offer congratulations. The couple received a number of lovely flowers and gifts.

Among those present were the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Morrissey, John E. Morrissey, Francis R. Morrissey, Mrs. James O'Leary, Mrs. Arthur Carpenter, and Miss Annabelle Morrissey, all of this city.

Out-of-town guests were James P. Finnegan, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. John Finnegan, Miss Mary Morrissey, and T. J. Gavin, all of Youngstown.

Aides at the dinner and reception were Mrs. Roy Waite, Mrs. George Ritter, Mrs. Lester Waite, and Mrs. Edward Herman.

Jungle Defense Tactics Being Used By Nazis

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LA HAYE DU PUIT, France, July 11.—(Delayed)—Sheer guts and American Indian warfare slowly but steadily are conquering Nazi jungle tactics in Normandy's "green hell" today.

This correspondent calls it "green hell" because for several hours during the afternoon he crept and ducked through orchards, hedges and streets, and got a vivid sample of how thoroughly the Germans copied and improved on Jap methods in transforming every tree and bush and projecting house into a sharpshooter's nest.

Approximately three miles southeast of La Haye in the direction of the forest of Mont Castré, American infantry in the afternoon hours tackled the Nazis in continuation of relentless pressure southward.

This correspondent sat in a fox-hole behind the hedge, watching a couple of Nazis dart across 200 yards ahead into the bushy leafiness. They did not draw fire.

Overhead the 105 mm shells rained and burst somewhere behind the undulating country.

Col. Jack Lord, of Port Jervis, N. Y., and Capt. Joe Accardi of Bristol, Conn., and Private Nick Fiorentino of Brooklyn, N. Y., Mike Ushak, Guterberg, N. J., and John Harcar, of Scranton, Pa., who had fought their way into La Haye in the last couple of days covered the meadow ahead of us and cautioned against a rash dash into open space.

Trick Attack
Said Lord:

"Them Heinies have perfected the trick of letting tanks go through and also the first batches of our men before they open up from all sides with machine-guns, pistols, rifles and hand grenades. We wait and live longer."

But even the best eyes are helpless in this green hell, where nature gave the Nazis a glad hand. Every 50 yards is exacted at the cost of blood but the Germans themselves pay the highest price.

A prisoner from the 17th Panzer division told his captors today that at least 500 out of 600 in his area had been casualties.

At the foot of a tree I saw a German sprawled out who had been shot like a squirrel off its branches. He couldn't have been eighteen.

Second Lieut. Leon Adams of Shreveport, La., told me a sniper's body was still hanging from a tree a hundred yards ahead where he had been killed. I was cautioned not to go that far to see the body because of intensified small arms shooting but this bears out what every other Yank tells me, namely that German youngsters are now jumping themselves to trees, like the Japs did on Guadalcanal.

In maintaining a blockade by sea, the cruiser is considered the chief weapon against the blockade-runner.

Man Dies From Effects Of Heat

Current Hot Spell Moves Into Ninth Day In Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(INS)—The season's first heat prostration in the greater Pittsburgh area was reported today as the current hot spell moved into its ninth consecutive day.

Andrew Estock, 66, died in a hospital four hours after being stricken at the Union railroad in Duquesne where he was employed.

The heat shot the mercury up to 94 at the Allegheny county airport yesterday, three degrees below the all-time record for July 11, set in 1876.

The weather bureau predicts a peak of 95 for today in the Pittsburgh area.

Monetary Experts Near Agreement On Postwar Finance

International Monetary Fund And Reconstruction Bank Two Big Proposals

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 12.—(INS)—With but a week to go, the sign-posts today indicated that the delegates of 44 nations assembled here at the United Nations monetary and financial conference were near agreement as to the desirability of launching a $500,000,000 international monetary fund and a $10,000,000,000 bank for reconstruction and development.

Although there are surface indications of differences, especially in matters affecting varying national interests, observers were convinced that the conference would adjourn with at least a semblance of unity.

When commission I, dealing with the fund meets tomorrow, the managers of the conference are hopeful that steps will be taken to launch the fund.

Volant-Rich Hill Evening Services

Communion preparatory services will be held Thursday and Friday evenings at Volant and Rich Hill Presbyterian churches respectively.

On Thursday evening at 8 Rev. Edward Tuten, pastor of the Plaingrove Presbyterian church, will preach at the Volant church.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock at Rich Hill, Rev. Donald McGarragh of the Old Center church, Grace City, and the Harrisville church, will preach.

Communion will be observed at regular morning church service, 10 o'clock at Volant and 11:15 at Rich Hill, on Sunday, July 16. Rev. H. K. Miller will be in charge.

On Wednesday evening Rev. Miller was guest minister at preparatory service at Slippery Rock church. On another evening recently he preached at preparatory service at the Harrisville church.

More Can Openers, To Increase Salvage

Attempting to meet the needs of housewives, the War Production Board is permitting an increase in the manufacture of can openers, but is at the same time requesting an increase in tin can salvaging according to a statement by the Pennsylvania Council of Defense today.

One of the few civilian items to be restored to full production, the manufacture of can openers is to return to 100 per cent, it is stated. This is because of the seriousness of the tin situation. The government hopes that with more can openers available more cans will be salvaged.

America's stockpiles of tin have almost disappeared but the manufacturers of planes and munitions, and those who make blood plasma containers, need more and more tin in order to continue, it was stated.

Holdup Gang Is Active In France

NEW YORK, July 12.—(INS)—The Nazi transoceanic agency, in a dispatch reported by U. S. government monitors today, said that five armed and masked men had held up two bank of France armored cars near Equeville, between Evreux, Normandy, and Paris yesterday.

The armored cars were said to have been transporting "several billion francs" to the city hall of Evreux.

Camp Rentz Has Capacity Crowd

Seventy-Two Youths From City Are Enjoying Pleasures At Y. M. C. A. Summer Camp

With a capacity number of 72 boys filling the cabins at Camp Fred I. Rentz, along the Slippery Rock, for the first week of the four-week camping period, the boys have swung into camp routine in quick fashion and these at camp are enjoying the pleasures of camp life at the big Y. M. C. A. summer center.

The boys stated to arrive at camp at 8:30 Monday morning, and by 9:30 o'clock all were in camp. The work of getting the boys arranged and assigned to cabins was soon completed, with all of the boys getting their favorite pal for a companion.

The instruction in the routine to be followed was given by Camp Director William Winter. Inspection was called as soon as the cabins were put in shape, which took place while the boys were enjoying their first swim in the cooling waters of the Slippery Rock. This was followed by an excellent meat loaf dinner prepared by Mrs. Saul and Mrs. Brown, the cooks.

In the afternoon the boys were divided into athletic teams for the week, and the evening found them competing in a game of "capture the flag". Camp fire followed, and after a devotional period, the boys soon settled into a restful sleep, tired out from the day's activities.

Cabin Occupants
Following are the cabin lists for the first period:

Soviet Forces In Southern Lithuania

LONDON, July 12.—(INS)—A big new Soviet advance into southern Lithuania was reported by the German transoceanic news agency today.

Heavy battles have developed east of Alytus, on the Niemen, 33 miles south of Kaunas," the report said.

Alytus is about 27 miles inside the Lithuanian frontier. It is the third point at which the Red Army has crossed into Lithuania.

Russian forces advancing from the region of Utena, 22 miles inside Lithuania, on the Kaunas-Vilna road, have managed to advance into the area south of Dvinsk.

"Their aim is to take Dvinsk by a joint operations with their forces closing in north of the river Dvina."

Mrs. Roosevelt's Fourth Term Ideas

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., July 12.—(INS)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt commenting on the decision of her husband to accept a fourth term nomination as President of the United States, believes that "the most feel it necessary or he would not do it."

The first lady, in Yellow Springs to address the Antioch college institute on condition for an enduring peace, said that she had no personal feelings on the fourth term issue, and that she did not want a fourth term for her husband "unless the majority of the people felt it was necessary."

Girls From Ellwood City Help Harvest

Group Of 26 Leaves For Erie To Help Pick Cherries In Lake District

Monday afternoon a group of 26 girls from Ellwood City, most of them Girl Scouts, left for Erie county where they will remain throughout the month of July, helping with the cherry crop harvest.

They are supervised by Mrs. John Sartwell, and will be in a camp housing 100 girls, located near North East, Pa. They will work in the district, helping orchardists harvest a record cherry crop. There are three other camps, housing 100 girls in the Erie district, it is stated.

The group was recruited through the Emergency Farm Labor Office here.

Men and boys, who can give spare time or full time to helping with the local grain harvest are still being sought, it was stated at the office here today. Those who can give some time are asked to call 7192.

Detective Agency To Guard Ration Station In Omaha

OMAHA, Neb., July 12.—(INS)—Omaha district OPA officials are taking no chances on losing gasoline coupons—either accidentally or by intent. For a detective agency has been hired to watch the coupons and the help.

With the opening of a district mailing center today, Acting Director Thomas Keenan announced that a detective agency would guard the place day and night—and that all employees would be searched upon arrival and when they left the premises.

The Omaha district recently was the victim of burglars who stole coupons worth thousands of gallons of gasoline and fuel oil, and other rationed commodities.

Mercer Committee Makes Postwar Plans

MERCER, July 12.—Postwar planning committees throughout the county attended a meeting at the county house in Mercer at 8:30 Tuesday evening to discuss mutual problems. The burgesses of boroughs not having a committee have also been invited.

The meeting has been called by the county commissioners. Steps may be taken to organize a county body so that plans may be coordinated for any activities that may be county-wide.

Warns On Using Of Sulfa Drugs

Sulfa Drugs Should Be Used Only As Prescribed By Capable Physician

CHICAGO, July 12.—(INS)—Sulfonamides do not kill germs, but simply prevent them from reproducing themselves. Dr. Neil R. Kitchen of Detroit told the annual meeting of the American College of Osteopathic Internists today.

He warned against over-the-counter purchase of the drugs and dangers of their use except under the supervision of a physician.

Dr. Kitchen said he did not "attack the proper use of sulfa drugs," but condemned claims for them of "miraculous powers," declaring that results of amputation and improper use of the drugs "will leave their mark on people for years to come."

He added:

"The sulfonamides, as they have been developed so far, obviously are an important step forward in the fight against disease, but they are far from perfect."

"Among medical journals even the most ardent advocate of the drugs warns against their misuse and the effects of improper and unskilled use."

Seek Identity Of Blonde Found Slain

LOS ANGELES, July 12.—(INS)—From such clues as a wedding ring inscribed with initials, a dry cleaner's mark on her dress and a special brand on her shoes, police today expected to learn the identity of the attractive middle-aged blonde woman who was shot in the skull and dumped from a car into a ditch along El Segundo boulevard.

A preliminary investigation showed that she had been shot at least twice through the left ear.

HONOR ROLL LIGHTS ARE STILL MISSING

According to Michael Bowden, one of the committee in charge of the erection and care of the Union Township honor roll, which is located at Union high school, the flood lights, which were stolen from the memorial some few days ago, were never returned and will have to be replaced by others.

Union township residents are deeply incensed over the act of vandalism, and promise speedy action if the thieves who stole the lights are ever apprehended.

Many Seeking Part Of Thompson Estate

CHICAGO, July 12.—(INS)—Claimants to the million and a half dollars in cash left by the late William Hale Thompson, former Chicago mayor, are showing up in scores of places in the United States and Canada, James W. Breen, attorney for the estate, said today.

He described many of the claims as fantastic. A man in Wisconsin wrote that once he saved Thompson from a possibly fatal nosebleed by pressing a dime under his nose and that Thompson had promised to provide for him in his will.

Thompson died childless and the entire personal estate will go to his widow.

Roosevelt Fusilier Takes Five Nazi Paratroopers, Pershing Louie Blasts Enemy

YANKS DO NOT KNOW WORD FEAR

By CLARK LEE
(U.S.A. Staff Correspondent)

ON A HILLTOP OVERLOOKING ST. LO, July 12—Two GIs with famous American names made names for themselves today in the battle for this key hill.

Pvt. Roosevelt Fusilier, Port Arthur, Texas, captured five German paratroopers single-handed and released an American officer they had captured, while Pfc. Pershing Louie of San Francisco, a soldier of Chinese descent, knocked out a German machine-gun nest.

Twenty-four year old Fusilier, a rough and ready looking customer with some of his front teeth missing as testimony to his reputation as a hell-raiser when his division was in training, lived up to an officer's description of him as a "wonderful combat man."

Fusilier was on the flank of his company creeping up the hill.

Germans Give Up

"I moved down a hedgerow for Krauts the boys ahead might have overlooked," he said.

"I came up behind these guys in a dug-out after spotting the helmet of one of them. I've been in the Army five years and have been doing a lot of scouting so they didn't see me."

"I pointed my rifle at them and shouted: 'come out, you so-and so's and they hollered 'kamerad.' One English-speaking guy yelled: 'Don't shoot, don't shoot.'"

The Germans came out "running around like a bunch of hens," Fusilier said, and were followed by American soldier John R. Simpson of Park Ridge, Ill.

Pershing Louie, on a pre-dawn patrol, demolition squad, was assigned to blast holes in hedgerows for tanks to go through.

Dynamite Does Trick

"We left our hedgerow and started across the field toward the German lines 50 yards away, running a few feet and then dropping to the ground," Louie said.

A machine-gun on our left began to shoot at us and we crawled the last few feet. I was carrying a big charge of dynamite.

"Just as we reached the hedge I heard Heinies on the other side running from a dugout to man a machine-gun which started firing right over my head. I pulled the fuse of my dynamite charge, waited six seconds and then tossed it over among them."

"I ran a few feet and dropped to wait for the blast. It went up very pretty and I ran back to our lines.
This morning we found the hedge blasted, the machine-gun wrecked and several Germans very dead."

Gunner Is Missing
In Aerial Mission

MERCER, Pa., July 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buckley, R. D. 5, Mercer, have received unofficial word that their son, Staff Sgt. Clifford Buckley, aged 21, has been missing in action since June 26 in an aerial mission. Sgt. Buckley was a waist gunner on an Italy based AAF B-17 Flying Fortress and had recently been awarded the air medal for meritorious achievements while participating in aerial operations against the enemy. He had been overseas four months.

Close To 20,000 In Park Pool So Far

Average Crowd On Warm Day Is 500: Last Sunday Broke Fourth Of July Record

Seventeen thousand, eight hundred and four is a big number, but the total number of tickets sold at the Cascade Park swimming pool is much higher than that now.

That number was the total of tickets sold to civilians from Memorial Day until July 3, according to C. C. Coulthard, superintendent of the park. The two biggest days, July 4 and last Sunday, July 9, are not included.

The Fourth of July figure, about 1,700 persons, was exceeded by last Sunday's crowd of close to 1,800, Mr.
Coulthard said.

On an average warm day about 500 swim in the park pool, especially between the hours of 2:30 and five o'clock. Many workers swim after dinner, from seven o'clock to about 9:30 or 10, bringing the evening crowd often to several hundred.

Kiddies Day is an extra special day at the pool. Usually about 450 or 500 of the Monday crowd are children, who get in at reduced prices. Depending on the warmth of the day, the ticket sales usually vary from 700 to 1,000.

From 25 to 30 servicemen swim at the pool every day, and many more on Sundays. As service men are allowed in free, they are not figured in with the total number of ticket sales given, but are included with the estimates of the crowds last Sunday and the Fourth of July.

Excess Shown In June Temperature

Month Not As Hot As June Last Year, However, Official Records
Here Reveal

While everyone will agree that June was rather torrid and dry, the figures of the U. S. weather observing station here reveal that the excess in temperature was not as great as in June 1943. The departure for this year was 3.8 degrees in excess of the normal. In June of 1943 the excess was 4.6 degrees over the normal. Nor was it as dry as in June 1943, but at that time, if you will remember back it had been raining almost continuously during April and May and farmers and gardeners were way late in getting their ground prepared.

The precipitation for June amounted to 2.33 inches, of which 2.48 inches had occurred prior to June 5. This was .96 inches below the normal for June. Last year, the precipitation in June was 1.92 inches below normal.

The complete statistics follow:
Mean maximum temperature, 86 degrees; mean of average daily temperature, 72.7 degrees. The highest temperature was 97 degrees on June 28, and the lowest was 43 degrees on June 8. Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 10; days with .25 inches or more precipitation were 5, and days with more than one inch were one which was 1.28 inches on June 3. Day clear were 12 and partly cloudy were 18.

Lawrence County Farm And Home News

By Extension Representatives, LEWIS C. DAYTON, Agriculture; MISS JOSEPHINE SIMPSON, Home EconomicsBINDER BREAKDOWN CAN BE AVOIDED

A thorough check-up on binders will not only avoid breakdowns but will insure good tight bundles of the right size. A binder must be in good shape and operated to meet field condition, if sloppy, loose, and poorly shaped bundles are to be avoided. The cutter bar should be really sharp if a clean cut is to make a square bottom on the bundle.

Adjusting the reel to tip the straw straight back on the platform is necessary to have the straw move properly on the elevator. Often a platform retarder, such as a wire or metal strip, can be attached at the outer edge of the platform to help keep the straw moving properly onto the elevator.

Slats torn from canvas cause elevator difficulties. A loose frame or worn roller bearing will cause the elevator to shift and loosen slats. Thorough lubrication of all moving parts will facilitate operation and chains should be checked for rusty parts as well as to make certain chains are the proper size for each sprocket. The circular "Causes and Remedies of Binder Troubles" may be secured from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle.

BEETLES, APHIDS, SQUASH BUGS ARE PREVALENT IN VEGETABLE GARDENS

Considerable damage from bean beetles, several types of plant lice, and squash bugs have been reported in vegetable gardens the past week and require prompt control.

Damage from the Mexican bean beetle has been apparent, and a treatment of 1 per cent rotenone dust now will save the bean crop. Watch for aphids, plant lice, or the small sucking insects, particularly on broccoli as it starts to head.

Green aphids have been observed on the undersides of leaves of melon, squash, and cucumber plants, as well as on cabbage plants. These can be controlled with a spray prepared by mixing a teaspoon of nicotine sulphate and a small handful of either flake or soap powder in a gallon of water. Undersides of leaves should be sprayed thoroughly. Squash bugs appearing on small plantings can be most easily controlled by handpicking the adults, and the brown egg masses found on the undersides of leaves. The adults can easily be trapped by placing a board on the ground near the base of the plants. During the heat of the day, the adult squash bugs will collect under the boards and they can easily be destroyed then.

PASTURE POISONING CAN BE REDUCED

Although many weeds are reported to be poisonous under certain circumstances, farmers who know the most common causes of trouble may prevent the sickness or death of valuable stock on pasture.

Probably the most frequent cause of death is eating wilted leaves of the common wild cherry, found in numerous fence rows. Unwilted wild cherry appear to be harmless, but if a tree or branch blows down, the deadly prussic or hydrocyanic acid forms as the leaves begin to dry. This is the same property which renders sorghum poisonous under certain conditions. A trip around the pasture after every severe storm to look for trees or branches knocked down, may be time well spent.

Poison hemlock and water hemlock are common weeds in some pastures, especially on moist land. Both are large branching plants with hollow stems and flattened clusters of small white flowers similar to those of the wild carrot. Both have a strong odor when crushed. Stock usually leave the large plants alone, but may eat the young growth in the spring or after the pasture is mowed, along with the grass. These weeds should be pulled when the ground is moist, or the stock fenced out of areas where they occur.

White snakeroot sometimes kills or sickens cattle and sheep. It grows in shaded areas and also has small white flowers in a flattened cluster at the top of the rather tall, slender, unbranched stem.

COLORFUL TOYS BEING MADE

Bright homemade toys for small children will be made by 4-H girls of New Wilmington and Fayette Clubs according to Miss Josephine Simpson, Home Economic Extension Representative. Girls in these two groups are working on a Child Care project, and one of their goals is to make a substantial toy for a pre-school child, to help the wartime scarcity of toys.

To reach this goal, members from the two clubs will assemble Wednesday, July 12, at 9:30 a. m. in the New Wilmington Park to view an exhibit of homemade toys sent out from Pennsylvania State College, to assist these youth in learning toy construction. There will be a grey and red wooden train, colorful wooden blocks, nested cans, and a variety of easy to construct toys.

Since play is really child's work, and his toys are tools, 4-H girls interested in child care are learning what toys a child needs for building, for imitative play, and for quiet play. Placing colored clothespins on a card of like colors may be a challenge to a two year old child, while riding a stick horse would be more developing and fun to a child of five. Girls will learn how to make these toys as well as doll carriages, wagons, trains, colored beads, spool dolls, and others.

Anyone may secure directions for making children's toys from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Building, New Castle, by sending a card asking for "Children's Toys from the Home Work Shop."

LIFE OF PATTERN NOT LIMITED TO ONE USING

A pattern can be an investment for the future as well as for the present if it is carefully chosen. Women who buy a pattern with the idea of using it for more than once dress, suit, or coat are making the most of their money, especially if they select a style that will be becoming for more than one season. Attention should be given to the neckline and the sleeves.

For that one more hot weather dress, how about a jumper in the wide-of-the-shoulder design, something of a kimono sleeve effect? Made of cool cotton or rayon, it is a perfect dress for hot days. But one use does not complete the life of a pattern so plan to make a wool or rayon jumper for fall and winter. The jumper can be worn over a cotton shirt. Teen-age girls will like such a jumper outfit.

The short box coat pattern can be used for a white pique or gay rayon coat for summer and for a flannel, jersey, or tweed coat for fall.

Dewey Confers With Brownell

Republican Nominee Discusses Campaign Program With Party Chairman

By LEO W. O'BRIEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ALBANY, N. Y., July 12.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, turned today from politics to politics, conferring with National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr. on practical methods of streamlining the Republican organization into an effective fighting force against the New Deal.

The governor, who has talked with the Republican congressional delegations from Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut, temporarily side-tracked those discussions to learn from Brownell what the national committee has done and intends to do to make the G.O.P. campaign a winning one.

He will resume his meetings with congressional groups soon, however, in order to complete quickly his intended talks with nearly 150 Republican members of or candidates for Congress.

Representative Clare Boothe Luce, who came to Albany with the Connecticut delegation, said the Republican nominee seems less concerned in talking with the legislators of his party, over campaign expediency than with "trying to arrive at a general philosophy of government for the U. S. in the years ahead."

Sees Victory Ahead

Persons who have talked with the governor during the last week sense a growing conviction on his part that the Republicans will win in November. In fact, he himself predicted that result when he said the conference of Republican governors early next month will lay the basis for action by the Republican national administration when it takes office in January.

Representatives from the New England states, after their talks with Mr. Dewey, also have clarified the party's stand on postwar international relations.

Representative Luce went farthest in that respect when she quoted the Republican candidate directly as stating that he favored "force if necessary" to enable a proposed international organization to keep the peace.

Mrs. Luce, as expected, contributed several etched phrases to the Republican campaign during her visit to executive chambers here. They included the following:

"Mr. Roosevelt may be the indispensable man of the Democratic party, but it looks to me as though Mr. Dewey is the inevitable man for the U.S.A."

Discharged Vets Get Preference

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin announced today that honorably discharged veterans applying for jobs under the state Civil Service Commission will be given credit for experience in the position held when inducted for the length of time in the service.

"The state Civil Service Commission, in accordance with law," the governor said, "is evaluating all current applications for war-duration employment received from honorably discharged veterans and will immediately give such applicants full credit for experience in the position held at the time of induction into service, for the period served in the army forces."

Michael Delduca Missing In Action

Flight Officer Reported Missing After Mission In Denmark

Flight Officer Michael Delduca, age 22 years, of the Army Air Force, has been missing in action in a mission over Denmark, since May 29, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. Mary Delduca, of West Newton, Pa.

The telegram from the War department stated that the flying fortress in which Flight Officer Delduca was navigator, failed to return after completing its mission.

Navigator Delduca is well known here, having resided with his cousin, Anthony and Lucy D'Auria, of 1602 Hamilton street. He was employed at the Johnson Bronze company, here prior to entering army service.

Flight Officer Delduca was a graduate of West Newton high school, and he entered the service in March 1943. He has a brother, Joseph Delduca, who is serving in the U. S. Navy. His father died in 1937. Further word is expected from the War department.

Madonna Sodality Plans Activities

Outdoor Outings, Social Events Are Scheduled This Month By Sodality

Regular monthly meeting of the Madonna Sodality was held Sunday morning after mass with prefect Helen Ryczaj in charge. A prayer and a song was recited and sung for the soldiers.

Helen Zaremba, Our Lady's chairman, read an article on "Hope." Apostolic chairman, Helen Magusiak, is collecting old medals for mission work. Eucharistic chairman, Jayne Telesz, discussed the need for Sodality to receive communion often during this critical time. A perpetual communion will be started in August.

Rev. Fr. Francis Kuczynski, spiritual director, conducted a question bee. A Madonna collection exhibit will be held by the Sodality July 30, in the club rooms.

Among the social events for the Sodality to be held this month are a hike, a basket picnic to be held at a local farm July 23 at 2 p. m., and a social event on July 30, with Josephine Krupa in charge. Father Kuczynski closed with prayer.

Doubt Sanity Of Confessed Poisoner

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12.—(INS)—The sanity of Mrs. Roberta Steiger, 25, facing a charge of fatally poisoning her room-mate, Helen Hovey, 24, today was a matter of doubt following tests given her at the Norbury sanitarium in Jacksonville.

On the return trip to Springfield, Reilly said, the woman told him "I didn't do it but I'm going to tell them I did."

Miss Hovey, a nurse, died last Saturday at a Springfield hospital. Mrs. Steiger in a signed confession admitted that she had given her room-mate a sandwich spread with peanut butter and rat poison.

Air Superiority Must Be Retained After War's End

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Upper Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson told a Senate Military Affairs committee today that the United States must maintain military air superiority in the postwar era.

"The Army Air Forces material command is now planning a comprehensive postwar research and development program for military aircraft that will be designed to insure our continued superiority in the air," Patterson said.

Postwar preparedness, he declared, must be based on the theory that the United States may not have time in which to leisurely prepare for another war.

"We must have adequate military appropriations in this field to keep the aircraft industry well beyond its prewar size and to maintain a corresponding output of planes developed and sold through normal competitive methods," he added.

Minnesota G.O.P. Jubilant Today

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—(INS)—Minnesota Republican leaders were jubilant today as they studied returns from Monday's primary election in which the total GOP vote was more than twice that of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party.

GOP spokesmen pointed out that a lack of spirited contests for top offices in either party made the balloting an accurate test of party strength.

Gov. Ed Thye was assured of the renomination for that office, and Byron G. Allen of Detroit Lakes will be his D-FL opponent in November.

Used Car Survey Completed Monday

Completing the "educational" survey of used car dealers, the War Price and Rationing Board reports that the ceiling price lists are all distributed and are well understood.

The survey, which lasted from "dawn till dusk" on Monday, was only to explain the new regulation to the dealers, and not to check their prices, according to J. L. McFate, chief clerk of the board.

SOLDIER INJURED

When a car allegedly driven by a soldier, enroute to Camp Reynolds, ran into the rear of a truck near Harrisburg on route 19 this morning, one of the soldiers in the car sustained a laceration of the lip. He was attended at a Mercer hospital. Released, the soldier continued on to camp, according to state police.

City Mission Picnic July 18

Preparations Extensive For Rescue Mission Sunday School Outing Next Tuesday

Annual picnic for the Sunday school of the City Rescue Mission will be held at Cascade Park on Tuesday, July 18.

A time of enjoyment for children and older folks alike, with plenty of good things to eat and drink and games and rides for all is planned. Supt. D. R. Wert said in making announcement of the picnic date.

Preparations include plans to entertain all who are interested in the work of the City Mission, and wish to attend.

Transportation will be provided for those who meet at the mission at 10:30 Tuesday morning.

Contributors who plan to give donations for the picnic have been asked to have them in by Saturday, Rev. Wert said.

Pvt. Ted Pierz Gets Purple Heart Award

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pierz, of 1012 North Ashland avenue, have received word from their son, Pvt. Ted Pierz, attached to the paratroopers regiment, dated June 28, stating that he is improving, and expects to be back on duty with his regiment in about a month.

Pvt. Pierz was slightly injured on Invasion Day, June 6, and is confined to a hospital in England.

He states that he has been awarded the Purple Heart decoration, which he is sending home to his parents.

Pvt. Pierz, who was on furlough visiting with his parents and family, shortly before Christmas, landed in England early in January. He has been in the service since November, 1942, and is a graduate of New Castle high school.

A brother, Sergt. Walter Pierz, who saw service for 9 months at Kiska in the Aleutians and Alaska, was recently home on furlough for 30 days, and has been transferred to California.

Report President Wants Wallace

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS)—Persistent reports circulated in Democratic congressional circles today that President Roosevelt will shortly issue a statement calling on the Democratic National Convention to renominate Vice-president Henry A. Wallace.

All of the president's advisers and most of the high ranking party leaders are opposed to renaming Wallace as Mr. Roosevelt's running mate. Despite this, authoritative reports say that the chief executive will take such a stand within the next few days.

Constable Locked In Own Handcuffs

McKEESPORT, Pa., July 12.—It was the constable as well as the prisoner who suffered when Billy Moran, McKeesport constable, broke his key while attempting to open his handcuffs.

Seeking a policeman whose key would fit the handcuffs, he and the prisoner tramped wearily around the city.

And when a key was found that would open the cuffs, only the prisoner's end would work. After much tugging and twisting, the constable was freed.

Low Cost Clothing Due For Comeback

HARRISBURG, July 12.—(INS)—The Harrisburg district office of price administration declared today that many low cost clothing items long off the retail market soon will be offered for sale again. The list includes women's housecoats and slips, and men's shirts and underswear.

New restrictions compel retailers to mark "second" or "irregular" any garments having imperfections.

The first steamship to cross the Atlantic Ocean was the Savannah which sailed from that Georgia port on May 22, 1819.

Seventh Ward

WARD SOLDIERS MEET IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. O'Donnell, of 708 North Ashland avenue, have received word from their son, Pfc. James O'Donnell, of the Quartermaster Corps, stating that he was stationed in England, and in good health.

Pfc. O'Donnell says he was glad to meet a soldier from the same street in the ward, over there, in the hospital. He is Private Ted Pierz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pierz, of 1012 North Ashland avenue. Pvt. Pierz is attached to paratroopers, and was slightly injured on Invasion day.

YOUNG FOLKS WILL ATTEND SUMMER CAMP

Miss Norma Lee Fulton of Seventh street, Miss Ella Ringer of Warren avenue and Paul Wagner of North Cedar street, young folks of the Madison Avenue Christian church, accompanied by Lynn Matlock, supply pastor, are planning to leave Sunday afternoon for Camp Christian in a beautiful location near Connellsville.

This camp is available to young folks of the Disciples church. The group expects to be gone for a week and will receive religious training and recreation.

ACTING FIRST SERGEANT

Sgt. William E. Weitz, Jr., of West Madison avenue has returned from Indiantown Gap, where he underwent a week's intensive field training. He is attached to the State Guard infantry, and was acting first sergeant. Sgt. Weitz reports that there were 1300 troops encamped there. He has been called to active service in the regular army and expects to leave July 23.

RETURNS TO DUTY

John Wilson, letter carrier out of the Mahoningtown post office, has returned to duty after four days of sick leave. Steve Zidow, carrier from New Castle, served the route in his absence.

JUST A SHOWER

Folks in the ward were elated when the clouds overcast the sky, seemingly all set for a good big rain, this morning about 10:30. The joy was short lived, as the shower was light, and lasted but a few minutes.

RETURNS TO DUTY

Cpl. Ralph Gaspare, of 105 West Cherry street has returned to Edgewood Arsenal, Md., after visiting with his wife and parents.

NOW IN IRELAND

Word has been received from Machinist Mate Third Class George L. Brumbaugh, formerly of West Madison avenue, that he is stationed in Northern Ireland. He was formerly stationed in Bainbridge, Md.

AUXILIARY MEETING TONIGHT

This evening, members of the Christopher Columbus Society Auxiliary will meet at 7:00 in Columbus hall for their regular meeting.

BIBLE SCHOOL WORKERS

At the Madison Avenue Christian church the Bible school officers and workers will have a conference this evening following the mid-week prayer service.

TRANSFERRED

Cpl. Louis F. Domenick of the anti-aircraft service has left for Camp Davis, N. C. after spending 21 days furlough visiting with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Nick Domenick and family, of 206 South Liberty street, Corporal Domenick recently returned from the Panama Canal Zone where he was in service for 22 months.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Mary Mastra, of 109 South Cedar street, has been admitted to the New Castle hospital.

Maxine Tackitt, of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, has returned to her home from the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Miss Carmella Dipetta of New York City is visiting, with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Spina, of Darlington avenue.

Mrs. Rose Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rotunda and son, Billy, of Montgomery avenue extension, have returned from a week's fishing trip in Canada.

St. James Quarto and wife, stationed in Baltimore, Md. have arrived to attend the funeral of his brother, Louis Quarto, of 523 West Cherry street.

Tony Thomas and Patsy Thomas have returned to Schenectady, N. Y., after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Rainey of Darlington avenue.

Frank Barnes of North Cedar street, who has been confined by illness to his home for three months, is improving, and is now able to sit up for a short while each day.

Mrs. Paul Humphrey, of West Clay street, and daughter, Mrs. William Peterson, and son, Bobby, of North Liberty street, visited Tuesday with relatives in Wampum.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Walter and sons, Billy and Bobby, of Toledo, O. are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry John, Mrs. Walter's parents, of West Cherry street.

Pvt. Carmen Dattilo, of 14 North Wayne street, has returned from Indiantown Gap, where he was in military training for a week. He is attached to the 16th Infantry State Guard band.

Mrs. Rose Tommelleo and daughter, and Sylvester Russo, Mrs. Ann Dellaverson of 13 East Clayton street, have left for New York, where they will visit with the former's son, Chief Radioman Charles Tommelleo, U. S. Navy, stationed in New York.

Tifereth Israel Service At Camp

A religious and social service is being planned by Tifereth Israel synagogue when they will go to Camp Reynolds at Greenville in a chartered bus on July 25. Mrs. J. Cobb is chairman in charge.

Rabbi Herman Krash, new spiritual leader of Tifereth Israel, will conduct the service for Jewish boys and others who attend the camp meeting.

Pony Entertains At Margaret Henry Home

Rapidly becoming full-fledged equestrians the children of the Margaret Henry children's home had another evening of horseback riding Tuesday evening when Louis Mastrangelo and his two sons, Frank and Anthony, of 913 South Mercer street, brought their chestnut pony, Peggy, up to the home.

All of the smaller children, about 24 of them, took turns riding for over an hour, according to Mrs. Lida Green, matron of the home.

Smallest boy in the group Harvey Johnson, who is three years old, got most of the extra rides because of his good horsemanship, Mrs. Green said.

All of the children of the home were riding for several hours on the Fourth of July, when four horses were brought to the home for their benefit.

Reconversion Of Industry Is Facing Delays

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 12—Industrial reconversion faced at least a month's delay today with the situation to be re-examined in mid-August to determine whether it will be feasible in the light of the then existing military conditions.

Contrary to an official WPB announcement that an order "will be issued" on August 15 enabling certain manufacturers to make civilian items now banned or rigidly restricted, it was learned that its issuance might be deferred.

The full War Production Board, compromising the dispute which had raged for three weeks on reconversion, agreed merely that the so-called "spot authorization" order will not be issued before August 15. No definite commitment was made as to the actual date of its issuance.

Delay of Six Weeks

Hence, army and navy leaders, who opposed its issuance on July 1 and won a six-week's delay, may feel that the military situation in mid-August calls for further postponement. They have opposed any relaxation of WPB controls until Germany is nearer collapse, fearing a breakdown in vital war production.

The "spot" order is the key implementing the fight of WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson's reconversion program of four orders, and without it there will be no real increase in the output of civilian goods. It empowers WPB field offices to authorize firms which have facilities and manpower not needed for the war effort, and where materials are available, to make civilian articles now banned or restricted.

Military leaders vigorously opposed issuance of the order now.

fearing an uncontrollable rush away from war production. War Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt also opposed the order on grounds that it would "sabotage" his new manpower controls designed to shift idle workers into industries where more labor still is required.

Three of Nelson's proposed orders will be issued on a staggered time schedule. The date and the orders are:

1. July 15—Orders lifting some of the current restrictions on the use of aluminum and magnesium to permit use of these metals in making those end products which already are allowed to be made of other metals.

2. July 22—An order permitting the making of experimental models of post-war products, upon the filing of a formal pledge with WPB that the manufacturer would not allow such activity to interfere with war production or essential civilian output.

3. July 29—An order permitting manufacturers to place orders for machine tools and equipment required for future peace-time production.

Assails Fourth Term For President As Dangerous Move

PHILADELPHIA, July 12—(INS)—Re-election of President Roosevelt in November will mean the end of representative government in America, former State Supreme Court Chief Justice William I. Schaffer predicted today.

Schaffer sounded his warning before the Philadelphia Union League, as that group endorsed the Dewey-Bricker Republican ticket.

"If President Roosevelt serves for 16 years," Schaffer said, "he can never be set aside except for a man of like ilk, who doesn't believe in this government being a representative government."

G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, charged Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, is supporting Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term in the hope of becoming "the supreme dictator of all American labor."

It is said that trees that are grown on the northern sides of hills will produce more durable lumber than those grown on the southern sides.

Will Open Bids For Remodeling Of Nurses' Home

Bids To Be Received On July 21
For Alterations In Jameson Homestead

Bids for the remodeling of the residence of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Jameson on North Jefferson street, to be used as a nurses' home, will be opened at two o'clock Friday, July 21, by the Building Committee of the board of trustees. The committee is composed of H. L. Gordon, W. F. Moody and Attorney Norman A. Martin.

Following the opening of the bids, they will be studied by the Building Committee and the contract may not be awarded for several days later. It is estimated the cost of remodeling will be around $25,000. For the work the War Public Works Administration has allocated $20,000.

The remodeling of the Jameson residence will give the Jameson Memorial Hospital improved housing facilities for the nurse corps of the hospital.

When the hospital was built, through the philanthropy of the late David Jameson, a nurses' home was built on the hospital property, the gift of Mrs. David Jameson. Following the death of Mrs. Jameson, the residence on North Jefferson street was given to the hospital by Mrs. Elizabeth Jameson McCree for use as a nurses' home.

Two Local Marines Serving Together Reported Wounded

Two Lawrence county Marines who met each other in training camp have been together during the entire course of their service and oddly enough are now in the hospital together, somewhere in the South Pacific, both wounded slightly in a recent battle. The two are Thomas O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Neill of Shenango township and Robert Reynolds, son of former deputy sheriff William McK. Reynolds of 1410 Delaware avenue.

The families of both Marines have received letters stating they are slightly wounded but are walking around with the aid of canes. Each was wounded in the leg.

The two went across together, trained in the same Pacific camps together and went through the landing on Kwajalein together. It is known they have been in the Marianas and it is assumed they were wounded in the landing on Saipan.

John Roach, who arrived in the United States from County Cork, Ireland, in 1829, is called the "father of iron shipbuilding."

HOSPITALIZATION INDIVIDUALS FAMILIES

Full benefits for hospital room up to 90 days, for each member of the family, and additional benefits for ambulance, X-rays, anesthetic, operating room, etc. etc. Surgical benefits available. Does not exclude accident for which compensation is paid. Any hospital in the United States or Canada may be used.

Officer Is Wounded In Pacific Action

MERCER, Pa., July 12—Attorney and Mrs. J. A. Stranahan of Mercer have received word that their eldest son, First Lt. James A. Stranahan, 23, has been wounded in action in the Pacific. The message said he had been hit in the left hip by shrapnel and that his left leg was broken. He has been in the marine corps for two years. A younger brother, Ensign John Stranahan, is in California where his ship is docked for repairs.

Former Restaurant Owner On Probation

PITTSBURGH, July 12—(INS)—Bennett H. Glantz who conducted a restaurant in Greensburg for only one month last year, today was on two-year probation following a guilty plea to unlawful transactions in ration stamps.

Glantz was charged with issuing a ration check for sugar when he was not a sugar ration depositor and also issuing a check for meat, fat, fish and cheese ration stamps for an amount larger than the balance in his ration account.

Primary Results In Massachusetts

BOSTON, July 12—(INS)—The New Deal-CIO coalition nominated Mayor Maurice Tobin of Boston for governor in the Democratic primaries, but was being routed today in three congressional and one senatorial contests in Massachusetts where it had concentrated against anti-administration candidates.

The only solace for the administration came in the gubernatorial contest where Tobin in 1400 precincts out of 1,800 received 103,000 votes to 63,000 for State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley, an outspoken critic of the New Deal.

However, in the contest for the senatorial nomination Mayor Corcoran of Cambridge, who campaigned on an anti-administration platform, was victorious over three other candidates, including former Congressman Richard Russell, the New Deal-CIO choice.

Lieut. Gov. H. T. Capill had no opposition as GO's nominee for governor and Gov. Everett Saltonstall likewise was unopposed for the U. S. senatorial nomination on the same ticket.

Nationals Trim American Team In Classic 7 To 1

Tex Hughson Has Bad Fifth Inning As Nationals Bat In Four Runs For Lead

PHIL CAVARETTA HAS BUSY NIGHT

By CHARLES E. HOLSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
PITTSBURGH, July 12.—In view of what happened, they couldn't have picked a better town for the 12th annual All-Star game.

To the experts up in the press box, and particularly those from hide-bound American league cities, the seven-to-one shellacking which the National leaguers delivered at Forbes field last night was at times a woeful exhibition of baseball in the ballroom manner, but to 29,589 paying customers it was a potpourri of soul-satisfying nectar imbued under the stars.

Scoring their third successive leap-year triumph, and the fourth since the series started in 1933, the Nationals had the best of it in all departments, pitching, hitting and fielding, and made their superiority stick out like a flag-pole on a Pacific atoll.

Hughson Victim
It was an explosive fifth inning, disastrous for Cecil (Tex) Hughson of Boston, in which the Nationals pounded out their victory, going through the batting order to knock out five hits and score four big runs.

Up to that time, Hank Borowy of the Yankees had kept the Nationals fairly much in check for three innings while batting in his own team's lone run in the second, but Hughson, after retiring the opposition one-two-three in the fourth, broke and was routed in the fifth.

A big seventh inning in which the Nationals scored twice and a rally in the eighth which gave them another score were almost anticlimactic.

Outside of a two-hit second inning, the Yankees showed little hitting power against four National league pitchers. Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds, Ken Raffensberger of Philadelphia, Rip Sewell, the Pirates star, and Jim Tobin of Boston.

Americans Score First
Walters let Ken Keltner of Cleveland get a hit to start off the second inning, and Keltner got to third on sacrifice grounders by Bobby Doer of Boston and Rolly Hemley of the Yankees, from where Borowy drove him in. Then Thurman Tucker of the White Sox grounded out and the Americans only rally came to a sudden stop.

It was different with the Nationals. Of the American league pitchers, only Borowy and Murniecki of St. Louis held the Nationals scoreless, but Borowy was in trouble of one fashion or another most of his three innings with men on base at the close of each chapter, while Murniecki allowed Connie Ryan of Boston to get to third on a wild pitch in the sixth, and only a close play for the third out at first prevented Ryan from scoring on a grounder by Angie Galen of the Dodgers.

Cavaretta Busy Man
Four of the Nationals got two hits each, including First Baseman Phil Cavaretta of the Cubs, who had a perfect evening at bat and almost scored three runs instead of one but was tagged out twice at home-plate.

The other two hitters were Catcher Walker Cooper of St. Louis, Dixie Walker of the Dodgers, and Ryan. Ryan gave the partisan National league crowd a big thrill, also, with a beautiful, leaping one-out home run.

Like old man river, Stella Walasiewicz continues to run right along. Fifteen years ago the Polish-born Cleveland girl, frequently termed the "world's fastest woman," was breaking sprinting records as she piled up victory after victory in athletic meets.

Today, Stella Walsh (that's her shortened American name) continues to hold sway as queen of the amateurs. In the women's national A. A. U. championship, just concluded at Harrisburg, Pa., Stella walked off with top honors and three titles, repeating similar performances of last year and the year before and the year before that and so on back to the Olympics, in which Stella ran as a member of the Polish team.

In the recent A. A. U. events, Stella, now 33, won the 100 meters, set a new national A. A. U. 200-meter mark in winning that sprint and also took first place in the broad jump.

Little World Series Thursday
Dean Park Dodgers And Cozy Corners Will Play Off Tie For Junior League Title

What should prove a red hot battle has been scheduled for Thursday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the George Washington Junior High field, when the Dean Park Dodgers and Cozy Corners, tied for the first half lead in the American league race, will play off the tie.

This date marks the opening of the second half of the race, and these two teams were scheduled to play a regular game at this time. Both managers have agreed to postpone the regular contest and use the date to play off the first half tie.

Either one of these teams would give some of the City league teams a real battle, as they are crack nines who have been playing together for several years, and fans wishing to see a real torrid game should take this one in.

Formation
The white-fronted goose, like his big brother of Canada, flies in V formation during migratory flights, but the V is rather loosely maintained and there apparently is no leadership. Though the white-fronted is often seen with blue and white waves—blue and snow geese—he's usually at the edge of the flock where he can sense danger most easily, and seldom mingles with the main flights of other geese. More often the white-fronts form flocks of their own, usually not more than 40 birds to the flight. They laugh and gabble incessantly, often being heard at considerable distance.

The white-front is about the size of the lesser snow goose, an adult weighing between four and six pounds as compared with the 14 pounds sometimes attained by the Canada goose. He's asy-gray or brownish-gray in general appearance, and has a white band across his forehead. The under parts are light gray, blotched with black. The sides of the rump are white and he has a pink bill. He's the only goose with yellow, or orange, feet. He breeds far up in the Arctic and winters mostly in the western United States east to the southern Mississippi valley.

White Sox Need Better Defense
Whole Infield Needs Revamping, Eastern Trip Was Really Disastrous

By DAVIS WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)
PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(INS)—All we know is what a large, lettuce-shaped ear can learn, when alertly cocked behind a Newel post in the lobby of the Schenley. But this much seemed definitely established before the annual All-Star game was played across the park at Forbes field last night.

That the failure of the Chicago White Sox to make even a pretense of strengthening a Steubenville, O., infield is fast becoming the scandal of their league.

Of course, there are many things gabbled about around an all-star game. Baseball, to be specific, never really has wanted the game. And one of these days doubtless it will carefully arrange not to have it. But when, over and over, the general manager of the Chicago White Sox, Harry D. Poff, says that the team's infield is "not good," it's hard to argue with him.

Let no one powder as to who is "the" manager of the Moose. He is Fizz, the Fizzer, and when they say that Mike Ferrante is the boss or that Pitcher Ferrante is, cast the thought aside.

"I'm the business manager and have nothing to do with the direction of players," said Mike several nights ago. Ferrante was not present to say his few words. Daino acts as scorer for the Moose.

Big Leagues Lift Night-Game Curb

Teams Can Play Night Games Anytime Except Sunday And Holidays

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(INS)—The curb on all night games, with the exception of Sunday and holiday contests, was lifted Tuesday at a special joint meeting of major league officials in Pittsburgh.

The only limitation placed on the owl games was that both teams must be agreeable to any particular contest before it can be undertaken.

At the same time, the moguls extended for one year—until Jan. 2, 1946—the major-minor league agreement. This will continue Commissioner K. M. Landis in control for at least one additional year.

Through this move, it was explained, the club owners hope to maintain a "status quo" until the end of the war.

A third point upon which there was general agreement was to have a committee of club owners in the major league to report at the annual December meetings on ways and means.

JOHNSON BRONZE DEFEATS U. E. & F.
Johnson Bronze Second Turn baseball team defeated the United Engineering & Foundry Second Turn team Tuesday morning at Marshall field 18 to 5. The Bronzes piled on Stepp for 10 hits and eight runs before he could be removed.

The J. B. batters went to work in the early innings and clubbed in 15 runs by the end of the third frame. Davies relieved Stepp for U. E. & F. and was found for ten runs. Joe Roth was the feature hitter for the Bronze with a homer with a man aboard, while Bobosky had two hits for the losers, who were limited to nine by Oliphant. The J. B. also featured with two fast double plays, Myers to Sewald and Teplica to Sewald.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

"I'll fight until the last out is made, but when the game is over I'm through fighting."

This was what Fizz Rodenbaugh, veteran hurler, infielder and now Moose pilot, said today regarding the charge of another diamond boss that "you're always yelling, trying to upset something."

Ray Fundoots, manager of West Pittsburgh, isn't averse to taking a verbal whack at some of the pilots of Industrial teams, saying:

It is all right for some of you guys to yell, fix up your ground when you know you've got solid backing, but in cases like mine where no organization backs a team it isn't so readily done."

Johnny Soho, manager of Shengango Pottery, likes to take issue with those who claim home plate can't be fixed easily.

"Take a pail of water and toss it in, then level it off and you'll have a good batter's box," he told other managers in the City league several nights ago.

Farrell Chosen As Site Of First Legion Contest

New Castle And Sharpsville Teams Will Meet At Farrell City Park On July 19

New Castle's crack American Legion Junior baseball team will play the Sharpsville entry in the statewide elimination contest to pick the best junior baseball team in Pennsylvania, in the first of a three-game series at Farrell City Park, just east of the city of Farrell, on Wednesday evening, July 19. Manager Earl C. Moffatt, chairman of the Perry S. Gaston Post athletic committee, announced today.

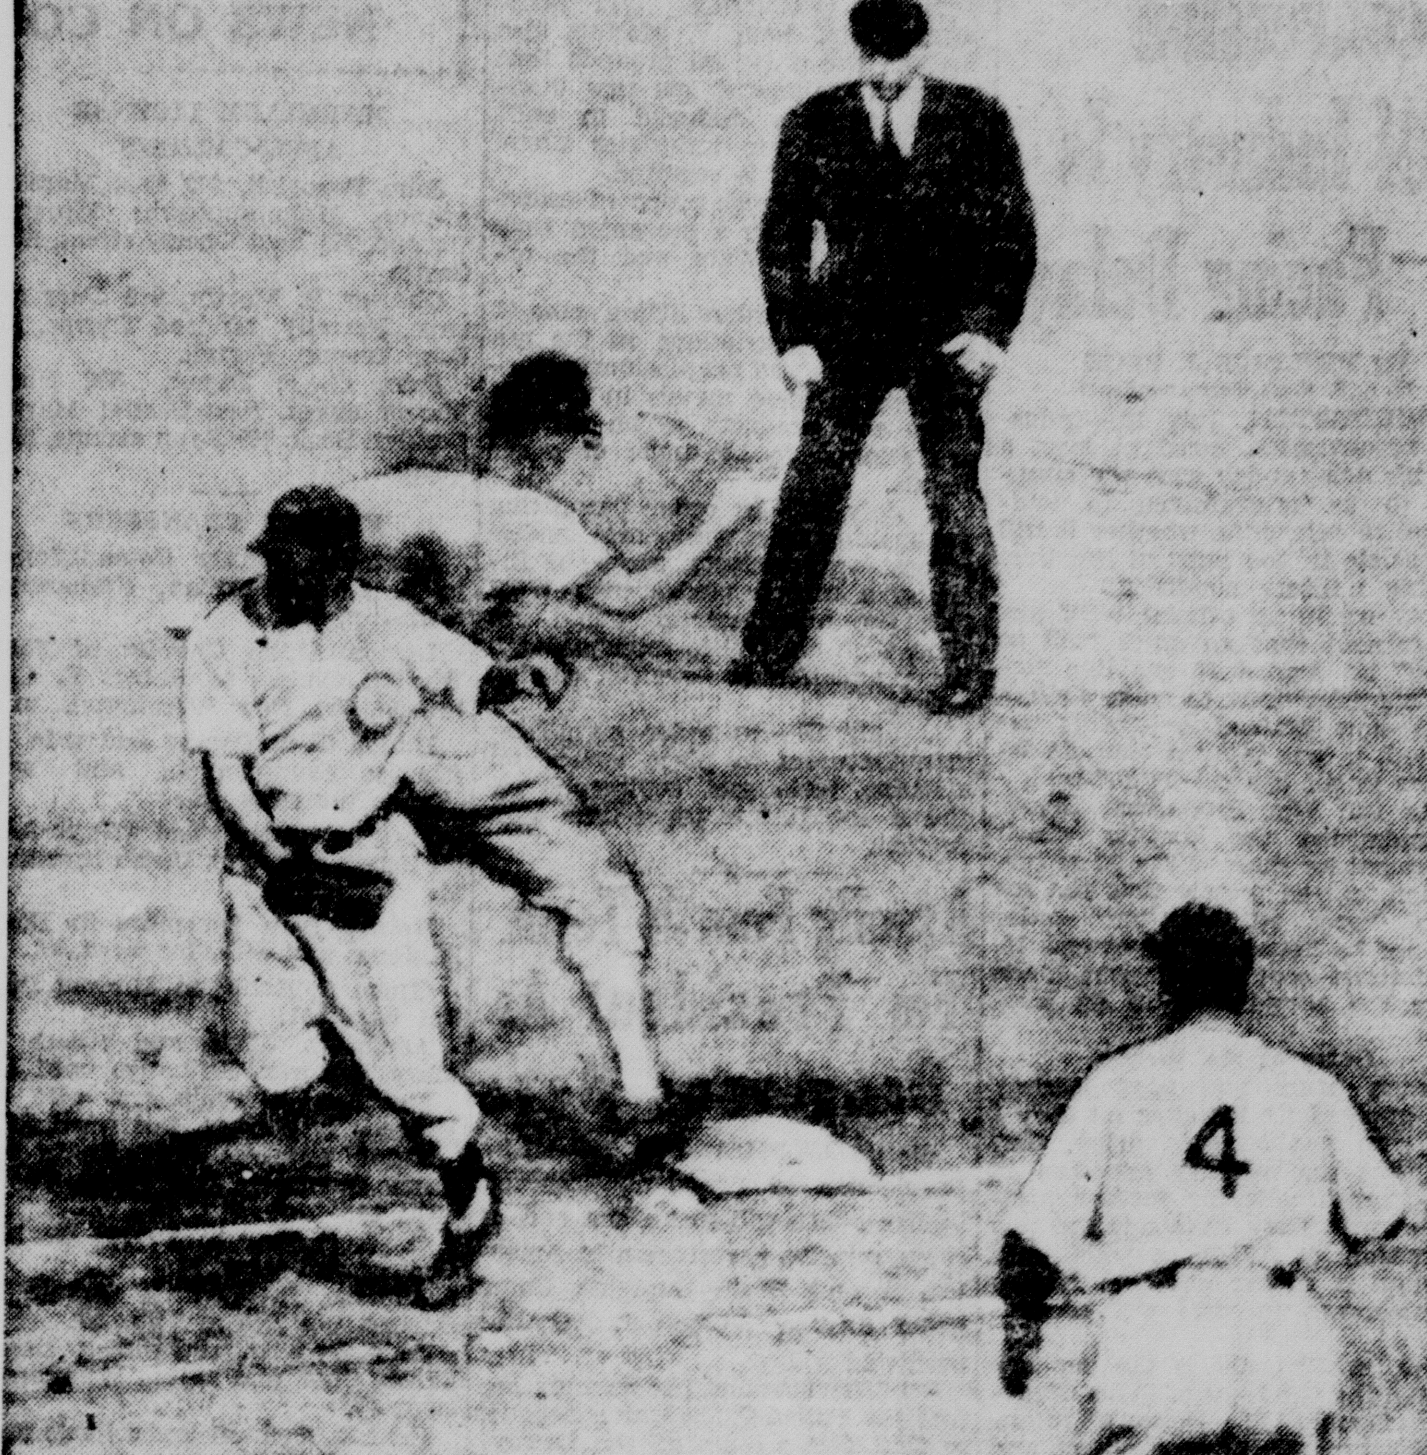

Manager Harry D. Peby, of Sharpsville, and Manager Moffatt completed arrangements for this first game last night. The second contest, on Thursday evening, July 20, will be played here.

Sharpsville boasts a crack organization, perhaps a little younger in experience than the veteran local nine, but one that is wide-awake and alert, and a hot battle is anticipated by the local nine.

RESUME GRID SERIES
Penn State and Syracuse, opponents for 21 consecutive years prior to 1943, will resume their football rivalry this fall. The Orange dropped football last year.

LIONS DROP SIX SPORTS
Penn State has dropped six intercollegiate sports from its athletic calendar for the duration. Eight sports remain.

Lou Little Is Crying Already

When Columbia Coach Cries The Blues, It Means Other Teams Beware

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, July 12.—(INS)—Large and lachrymose Lou Little was so sadly tearful when I saw him recently that I feel compelled to warn all and sundry rivals today that they may see him and his Columbia football team in the Rose Bowl next fall.

You know how Lou is—when he drags out that crying towel in earnest he has something up his sleeve. When he's extremely chipper and cheerful as he was all last season, Columbia loses every game. You may recall how Lou wept all the way from here to California some years ago and then sprang one of the all-time football upsets when his "poor little waifs" trimmed a truly great Stanford team in the Rose Bowl.

Warning Sounded
So I warn everybody to beware. Lou is weeping all over the place as he puts his squad through their spring routine these days.

And what a squad! Time was when Lou considered himself lucky to have 40 show up for the team. Now he has 135, most of them V-12 Navy candidates.

"We might win a game," Lou sobbed on my shoulder, "but I don't see how. All we've got to do is meet Union, Dartmouth, Penn, Cornell, Yale, Syracuse, Colgate and Brown. That's all."

Flashed down, Lou admitted that he has a lad named Joe Hall, track champion, who will be something as a sensation at punting and passing. Then there's one Henry Stout, from a Washington, D. C., high school, who is a great punter, and Fred Dedow, a sprinter from Brooklyn, who never has played the game. Mel Murchison, a tackle from Fredericksburg, Va., and Ken Knorr, an end from St. Louis.

Lou grudgingly admitted that his line would average at least 185 pounds on the hoof, but "Oh, so terribly inexperienced. Still, they'll be enthusiastic and scrappy, and they may not look too bad."

Lou wiped a futile tear from alongside his famed sneeze, and opined that the public will be treated to a better grade of football than they expect this fall.

Wants Rules Changed
"You see," he explained, "we'll have a lot of 4Fs on hand and a lot of grand boys being mustered out of the service and returning to college."

Lou is still disgruntled about the college football rules. He wants to be allowed to pass anywhere behind the line, as the pros do. He wants a new kick-off rule. "Every college kick-off went out of bounds last year. Phooey." And he wants to run with a recovered fumble. "They don't make a ball player hold his base when an outfielder drops a fly."

Lou looked out over the campus where hundreds of husky young V-12s were drilling, heaved a prodigious sigh and remarked: "I wish I could uncover another Sid Luckman among that bunch." Well, who wouldn't?

Ticket Scalpers Held By Police

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—(INS)—Four men were under arrest today, charged with "scalping" tickets for the All-Star game at Forbes field last night.

Police said that in some cases the men sold 33.60 tickets for $8 and $4.50 tickets for $15.

The men were identified as Joseph Turner, 36, St. Mary's; James Martinez, 42, Canton, O.; and Sidney Evans, 49, and Harry Rutenber, 41, both of Pittsburgh.

Moose And Bronze Meet Again Today

Second of the series for the first half title of the City Baseball loop will be played by the Johnson Bronze and Moose at 5:45 p. m. at Lee avenue today. The game is slated to start at 5:45 p. m. with Flintall hurling for the Johnson Bronze and probably Sargent for the Moose. The Johnson Bronze won the first game 8-7 at Marshall field Sunday.

hand catch of a high liner by Hem-sley in the fourth.

Realize Over $100,000
The only comparable stunt of the evening was a similar one-hander for the Americans by Vernon Stephens of the Browns at shortstop in the seventh while Cavaretta waited on third. Cavaretta scored a few moments later when Kurovski of the Cards sent a hit racing all the way out to the left field wall, scoring Cooper as well.

The bat and ball fund for the men in the nation's armed services was swelled about $100,000 by the game, the first to be held in Pittsburgh since the All-Star series began.

The fifth inning which saw the doom of the Americans started off with Ryan singling and stealing second. Slat's Marion of the St. Louis Cards fanned but Bill Nicholson of Chicago doubled down the left field line scoring Ryan. Galan's single scored Nicholson. Cavaretta walked, putting Galan on second and Musial filled the bases on McCann's miff at first. Cooper and Dixie Walker drove in two runs but Cavaretta was called out in sliding into the plate. Muncie went in for Hughes after the fourth run and retired the side on Elliott's high foul to Left Fielder Bob Johnson of Boston.

Sowell Uses Blooper
Pirate Rip Sowell got a big hand from the crowd on his famous "Ephus" pitch which he used sparingly.

For the Americans, Stan Spence of Washington, with two hits and with a nice throw to second in that explosive fifth inning in which he pinned down the rampaging Cavaretta, did himself proud for the evening, but over-optimistic coaching by Joe Cronin at first sent Spence to a tag-out at second in the third inning on a single which was only good for one base.

eral buzz-buzz of a baseball gathering invariably swings back to one subject, namely the White Sox, you begin to get impressed with its importance. The club, it seems, has fine pitching, even finer than the records show since practically any ball hit on the ground, and not fired at an infielder, goes into the box score as a base hit.

Webb, the shortstop, "freezes" on defense and can't go anywhere. To the right or left, or in or out. Schalk, at second base, is a fair double-A infielder who might be all right with somebody on either side of him. On one side of him now is Webb, and on the other, either Hal Trosky or Ed Carnett.

Terrible Infield
The latter's a fugitive from the outfield but, at that, he plays more first base than Trosky, who could hardly play less.

Clarke, the third baseman, is what is known as a Woolworth ball-player. That is, he does all his business on a dime.

All told, it's agreed that this isn't only just the worst infield in the major leagues today. They even say in order to find its equal, that you have to go the way back to Philadelphia and Connie's conglomerate of 1918, when Mr. Mack sometimes didn't even know the names of his horrible infielders.

The Sox, however, have been a contender from the first, being only four games out of first place when they started their last eastern trip. This is the trip where the porous character of their infield really began to manifest itself.

Disastrous Trip
The Sox's eastern trip saw them win only four games out of 14, and the word is that three of these wins were made practically inescapable by opponents' errors.

Meanwhile there's the Sox phobia about night baseball... their innate belief that they can't win under the lights. This seems to have been rather conclusively sustained by their '44 record of three won in 14 games, but business manager Harry Grainger has the perfect answer to that.

He's arranging seven more night games for Comiskey park!

Sports Events Sell $16,730,170 In Bonds

NEW YORK, July 12.—(INS)—

The fifth war loan sports committee today announced that $16,730,170 worth of bonds had been sold through the medium of sports events in the latest bond drive.

The novel Yankee-Giant-Dodger game of June 26 produced a $5,376,900 "bond" drive. The sports carnival at the Polo grounds June 17 resulted in the sale of $5,973,700 worth of bonds and the Aqueduct race track was responsible for 36 fans buying $2,036,570 worth June 24.

Williams Wins Over Marshall

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(INS)—Holman Williams, veteran Detroit middleweight, held a split 10-round decision today over Lloyd Marshall, Cleveland, O. battler, before 3,000 fans at Griffith stadium.

Marshall used a two-fisted attack to blast Williams' defensive strategy. The Detroit, however, weathered an eighth round storm which had him hanging on the ropes. There were no knockdowns.

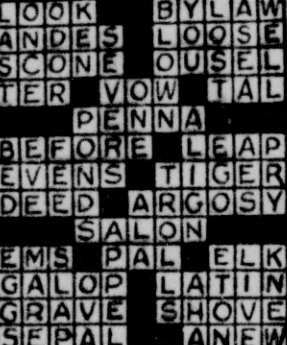

Athletics Upset Albany Senators

ALBANY, N. Y., July 12.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Athletics knocked out 18 hits off three hurlers to defeat the Albany Senators 13 to 5 in a game at Albany last night.

Woody Wheaton, A's southpaw, fanned eight as he went the route. The Albany lodge of Elks presented Manager Connie Mack with a pen and pencil set before the game.

Highway Looking Ahead To Winter

Buckius Announces Plans For $4,000,000 Winter Road Maintenance In State

By JAMES H. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, July 12—(INS)—With an eye cast toward the long winter months ahead, the State Highway Department revealed plans for a $4,000,000 winter road maintenance plan.
Chief Engineer C. H. Buckius gave assurances that Pennsylvania motorists could look forward to "the best service we possibly can give under the conditions."
Buckius explained that conditions would be determined by the manpower and equipment problems and the severity of the winter. He said the department was "getting by" with its present force of more than 300 men, and predicted the situation "certainly can't become worse."
The chief engineer said 2119 state-owned plows were being made ready to swing into action when the first snow falls. The department rented an additional 125 plows last year to aid in the road clearance program, he added.

More Snow Fences
A major part of the program, Buckius pointed out, involved the placing of snow fences. He explained that fences were not erected before November 1 and were removed by April 1 in order not to interfere with crops. Last winter approximately 2500 miles of fences were strung parallel to highways to prevent drifts from hampering traffic.

Cinderling was described by Buckius as "one of the department's biggest problems."
To show the scope of the maintenance problem, Buckius emphasized that Pennsylvania has more miles of state highways than the combined state road mileage of the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware.
Approximately $38,000,000 was expended to carry out the department's winter programs during the past nine years, Buckius said. Last year, he added, the program cost taxpayers $3,370,000.

Windsors To Arrive At Miami Thursday

MIAMI, July 12—(INS)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are expected to arrive in this country Thursday. Douglas Robey, acting British vice consul, disclosed today. They will make a brief visit in Miami before traveling north. Their itinerary has not been announced but it was presumed they would stop in Washington and New York.

IN U. S. ARMED SERVICE

(War Censorship Regulations Limit Information Allowed in This Column)

Every officer and enlisted man who serves on the faculty of a Mediterranean theater leadership and battle training school may well be considered as "the professor of the year." Tens of thousands of the United States soldiers, now blasting the Nazis in Italy, have been trained in this school, of which Pvt. Leo A. Fee of this city is an instructor.

Sgt. Floyd H. Stickle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stickle of Portersville, was recently awarded the Good Conduct medal, according to word received from Gore field, Great Falls, Mont.

Pfc. John L. Locke has been transferred from Coral Gables, Fla., to Mitchell field, N. Y. Pfc. Locke is a son of Mrs. Josephine Locke of South Crawford avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Logue, of 111 South Walnut street, have received word from their son, Pfc. Francis Logue, attached to the airborne troops, that he has arrived somewhere in France. This is the first word from him in two months. Another son, Fireman First Class Larry Logue, after traveling for five weeks by plane, ship and 700 miles overland, has finally joined his ship, USS Delta.

Edward C. Chapman, Jr., recently inducted into the Army, has been transferred from Fort Cumber-land, Md. to Camp Croft, S. C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chapman, of R. D. 2.

Sgt. Jack H. Hitchen, accompanied by his wife, is home on a 10-day furlough from Camp McCoy, Wis., which he is spending with his father, John Hitchen, of Lyndal street, and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones, of Waldo street.

Sgt. Walter J. Cross, who is stationed at the Circle General hospital in Cleveland, O., has returned after visiting his sister, Mrs. Alfred James, of Wilmington avenue, who is ill in the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Lt. John W. Gillespie has concluded a 10-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Gillespie, of 715 Emerson avenue. Lt. Gillespie was en route from Moore field, Mission, Tex., to Harding field, Baton Rouge, La., where he will continue advanced training in the Air Force.

Mrs. Betty Allen and little son have returned from Fort Benning, Ga., where she has been visiting with her husband, T. Sgt. Charles M. Allen, who has been stationed there with an infantry unit.

Pvt. Rita L. Metz, of the Marine Corps, Women's Reserve has completed her "boot" training at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C., and has been assigned for six months special training to the Marine Aviation School in Norman, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Glorioso of the Butler road have three sons in the U. S. Armed Forces, and have had word from each recently. Their son Pvt. Joe Glorioso has arrived safe in England, and Pfc. Carmen Glorioso, who is also in England, met another New Castle lad, John Anthony Peluso, who he hadn't seen for two years. A third son, Pfc. Mike Glorioso is stationed in Hawaii and has sent a number of native souvenirs to his family.
Pvt. Leonard Gilbert has arrived "somewhere in Great Britain," according to a letter received by his wife, of 2203 Highland avenue.
Sgt. Robert Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Van Rice, of Sampson street, who enlisted in the U. S. Army immediately following Pearl Harbor, is home on his first furlough since enlisting. He has been stationed in the Panama Canal Zone.
Harold Bunemann, S-2c, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bunemann of Richfield avenue, has been transferred to New York, according to word received by his parents. Another son, Pfc. James Bunemann stationed in Lincoln, Nebraska, is confined to the base hospital where he will undergo treatment.
Ensign William H. Neff recently spent a few days at his home on Sheridan avenue. He arrived at the air port, Vienna, Ohio, Saturday when he was met by relatives and friends. Sunday Ensign Neff accompanied his cousin, Howard Gresham, Jr., of Cortland, Ohio, back to the air port and after circling this city in his Corsair plane and dipping wings in salute, flew back to his post on the coast.
Cpl. Ira R. Blair has returned to Fort Story, Va., after spending a furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Blair, of Beckford street.
Pvt. William S. Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Ramsey, Boyles avenue, is home on a 10-day furlough. He will report to Camp Gruber, Okla., July 17.

Brenda — Will You Step Out With Me Tonight?
I know I've been a awful grouchy not taking you any place lately. But after standing all day at my new job, my feet don't yearn to be with you. I've reformed — or rather my feet have — thanks to the Ice-Mint you advised. Never tried anything that seemed to draw the pain and fire right out so fast — and the way it feels when you're cooled is nobody's business! Been able to get some extra overtime money — so what do you say, let's go dancing tonight. You can step on my Ice-Mint feet all you want.

Neighborhood House June Report Given

Christian Troop School Principal Work Of Month: Americanization Committee Meets

Report of work for the month of June at the Neighborhood House as given by Miss Christine Butler at the monthly meeting of the Americanization committee of the Y. W. C. A. follows:

Sixty-eight calls were made. All classes are closed for the summer except those in Citizenship Bible Study, and the Sabbath school. For the latter which meets each Sabbath afternoon at 3 o'clock, a contest on the life of Stephen is underway. The member who receives the most points on the questions asked will receive a prize at the close of the contest.

Principal work of the month was the Christian Troop school held at the Central Christian church from June 19-29. There was a demonstration of the work on the closing day.

Troop School Enrollment
One hundred seventy-five were enrolled, average attendance was 124. 157 came three days or more. Diplomas were awarded 77, 30 commissions were given, 32 accepted Christ. Seventeen hundred twenty tract bombs were distributed, of which 10 were given out by one member of Troop D.

Picnic for the Sabbath school will be held later this month.
Two army Testaments and 3 navy Testaments, gifts of the Gideons, have been given out. Six new Testaments and one Bible were given to Troop school members.
Magazines were received from Miss Hannah Walker and Miss Mary Riffer, also Sabbath school papers from the Highland U. P. Sunday school.

Americanization Meeting
At the meeting of the Americanization committee, Russell Tait presided in the absence of Miss Margaret Lowry, who is spending the summer at Chataqua.
Mrs. E. L. Young was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements for the Neighborhood House Sabbath school picnic.

Former Local Boy Gets Decoration

Cpl. Perry C. Martin Wins Citation For Heroic Action In Bougainville Fighting

Word has been received here by relatives of the awarding of the bronze star to Cpl. Perry C. Martin of McKeesport, a former resident of New Castle, for heroic action on Bougainville last March.

The citation accompanying the award reads as follows:
"On the evening of March 8, enemy artillery shells caused breaks in vital artillery line from the forward position to the fire direction center. A crew of wiremen led by Cpl. Martin set out to repair these lines. The wire crew entered the shell area and with shells landing within 25 yards, repaired these lines in less than 30 minutes after communications were reported out. On March 12, enemy 90 mm mortar shells caused breaks in vital artillery lines. With total disregard of his own personal safety, Martin led a crew into the area amidst mortar fire that landed within 20 yards of them, one of the crew being blown out of a tree by the concussion. All lines were quickly repaired and this vital communications enabled artillery to place fire which greatly aided in breaking up the enemy attack.

Cpl. Martin was inducted into the army in January, 1942, and has been overseas for two years, serving in the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Guadalcanal, New Georgia and Bougainville. He attended New Castle senior high school and was employed by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Martin, now reside at R. D. 3, Butler.

BETTER APPLE CROP FORSEEN

HARRISBURG, July 12—Opportunity for Pennsylvania commercial apple growers to give the state a higher ranking among all apple-producing states is presented this year, according to the most recent information on condition of the crop that has reached the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service in the State Department of Agriculture.

In spite of heavy rains and a rather heavy natural drop of small fruits, the condition of the 1944 crop was reported as 73 per cent of normal, which is 10 per cent better than a year ago at the same time.
Last year, when drought conditions reduced the size of fruit and the total production was only 5,070,000 bushels, Pennsylvania ranked 6th in production and 5th in value of the commercial apple crops, the value totaling $12,675,000. In 1942 the state ranked 4th in production with 10,031,000 bushels and 4th in value, $10,846,000, among the 36 states where commercial apples are grown.
Commercial apples last year represented the 6th most valuable crop produced on Pennsylvania farms, advancing from 7th place held the year before. Only corn, hay, potatoes, wheat, and commercial truck crops, in that order, outranked apples in total value.

Two Nazi Escaped Prisoners Caught
GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 12—(INS)—Two Nazi infantry sergeants were back in an internment camp on the Gettysburg battlefield today after nine days of frightened freedom in which they traveled only 30 miles.

A doughty York county farm woman, Mrs. Mabel Bentzel, fed the two men spicy bologna and apple sauce while her daughter-in-law ped a half-mile to a neighbor's telephone yesterday and notified state police that Thomas Kostaniak, 27, and Axel Ostermaier, 22, had been found only six miles south of York.
